Project announced in Columbus

Deer Creek lodge plans to be made

By SANDY FOSSON
Record-Herald Staff Writer

COLUMBUS — The Ohio Department of Natural Resources took another step forward today in paving the way toward full facility recreation developments in the Washington C.H. area.

Director William B. Nye and Ohio Representative Myrl H. Shoemaker announced the plans in Columbus Thursday morning to begin conception of year-round vacation lodges and cabins at Deer Creek and West Branch state parks.

TWO ARCHITECTURAL firms in Columbus, Phillip Markwood Architects, Inc. and Acock, White and Associates, Inc., were selected to prepare conceptual designs for the Deer Creek facility, which would serve central and southwestern Ohio.

The Deer Creek state park is located 30 miles southwest of Columbus in Pickaway and Fayette counties. The 7,006-acre park just recently began accepting reservations for rental of the "Harding Cabin," which was formerly the summer home of Harry M. Daugherty, a Washington C.H. native who was U.S. Attorney General under President Warren G. Harding.

The cabin, on the east side of the lake near the park office, was said to be a secluded gathering place for friends and supporters of Harding.

The project will include selecting a site at the park for a lodge and overnight vacation cabins and determining the size of the complex and what types of service facilities, such as water and sewage treatment, will be necessary.

the size of the lodge may range from 90 to 120 rooms with approximately 55-60 people expected to be employed after completion. Nye could not say exactly how much the project would cost overall but revealed that the last two major lodges were completed at a cost of $10.3 million for Salt Fork State Park and $7 million for Mohican State Park.

The West Branch state park is located in Portage County near the urban areas of Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown and Canton. The Cleveland firm of Dalton, VanDijk, Johnson and Partners will make the study at the West Branch park.

According to Nye, the target date for completion of the design plans is three to four months. The facilities are being planned for construction in 1975, provided approval by the state controlling board for releasing funds for the design work and the legislature for revenue bond authority, with completion expected in 1976.

Nye anticipates the two lodges "would be very successful during the summer recreational season and as a conference and convention facility during the wintertime."

Nye said the projects were developed after a recent citizens survey depicted high public demand for additional outdoor facilities in and near urban areas.

The new lodges at Deer Creek and West Branch will be the seventh and eighth overnight lodges in the state parks system. Others are located at the Burr Oak, Hueston Woods, Punderson, Salt Fork, Shawnee and Mohican state parks.

PLANS ANNOUNCED — Department of Natural Resources director William B. Nye and Ohio Representative Myrl H. Shoemaker (seated) announced plans for two new vacation lodges at Deer Creek and West Branch state parks. Attending the conference from Washington C.H. were standing from left, Bruce Galloway, Jim Ward and Laurence A. (Bucky) Dumford.

ACCORDING to Shoemaker, the Deer Creek facility, whick is in his 88th House District, is "within 50 miles of Columbus, Dayton, Springfield and Chillicothe, and is less than an hour's drive from more than two million Ohioans." Shoemaker said he expected the controlling board to approve funds for design work Monday.

A third similar project planned for Kelly's Island state park has been delayed because of numerous local objections to the master plan. "They do want a park development there but not according to our plan. They don't like the idea of forced sales," Nye said.

Nye said the new facilities probably would be financed with revenue bonds, which are retired with revenue produced by the operation of the facilities. Other financing alternatives would be either general obligation bonds or direct payment.

Nye noted that normal maintenance of access roads to the parks would be worked out in a type of "maintenance-assistance agreements" with the county and would vary among lodges and locations.

Attending the press conference from Washington C.H. were Laurence (Bucky) Dumford, candidate for 77th District Ohio House of Representatives, Bruce Galloway, president, and Jim Ward, of the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce.

Quick drop, speedy rise seen

U.S. heads into recession, economic advisor admits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation is headed toward a recession and the Ford administration might as well admit it, says an administration economics adviser.

"Let's call a spade a spade," said Paul W. McCracken in a telephone interview Wednesday. "I think we are probably in the early stages of what could turn out to be a V type recession."

That means a recession which is sharp but brief and looks like a "V" on a graph, in contrast to prolonged declines in economic activity, McCracken explained. He indicated he thought the worst would be over by mid-1975.

McCracken said unemployment could approach 7 per cent and the decline in economic output about 4 per cent next year. Another administration economic adviser, L. William Seidman, said his best guess on unemployment would be about 6.5 per cent.

McCracken, a former chairman of former President Richard M. Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers, now serves as a part-time consultant to Treasury Secretary William E. Simon. He also recently was named by President Ford to help compile his new economic program after the economic summit meetings.

While McCracken said it was a moot point to argue whether the economy is in a recession, as President Ford has claimed it is not, "my judgment is that we're probably moving into one."

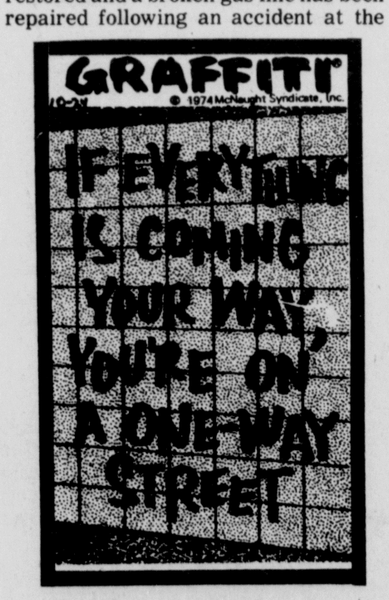

McCracken, a professor of economics at the University of Michigan, does not rank as an official administration spokesman, and the administration continues to shy away from describing the current economic condition as a recession.

Seidman said in a separate meeting with newsmen Wednesday that it is hard to put a label on the economy at the present time. For some industries, such as furniture and steel, he said there is no recession. For housing, he said there is a deep recession.

"Inflation certainly is the No. 1 enemy, but stagflation is right behind it," said Seidman. "It's better to say we have two problems."

Gas, water lines repaired after bulldozer accident

Normal water service has been restored and a broken gas line has been repaired following an accident at the Kroger Co. construction site on Clinton Avenue Wednesday afternoon.

A bulldozer operator, employed by the K and S Construction Co., of Columbus, which is erecting the new Kroger Co. complex, accidentally struck a two-inch gas line and a six-inch water main while grading in an area between Don's Auto Sales, 518 Clinton Ave., and the Super Par service station on W. Court Street.

The accident, in which gas spewed into the air and water oozed up into the streets, occurred shortly after 4 p.m. Wednesday.

The bulldozer operator was removing old sidewalks and curbing from the area to permit the eventual construction of a third traffic lane along Clinton Avenue.

EVERITT ROBBINS, manager of the Ohio Water Service Co., office in Washington C.H., said approximately three dozen area water customers were without service for nearly an hour

Rezoning ordinance approved

Council holds 17-minute session

Washington C.H. City Council zipped through a wafer-thin agenda to record one of its shortest regular meetings ever Wednesday night.

In the only matter of business before City Council members during the abbreviated meeting which lasted a mere 17 minutes, a rezoning ordinance was unanimously approved as an emergency measure.

THE REZONING ordinance was the only piece of legislation appearing on the agenda and a portion of the 17-minute session was absorbed by routine matters such as the call to order, roll call, invocation, pledge of allegiance, approval of minutes and the time given to voters and taxpayers to address Council.

Even City Manager Dan Wolford's semi-monthly report to City Council was empty. However, the length of the meeting was stretched a bit when three matters were aired during "Call to Council."

An ordinance requesting the rezoning of a tract of land near the intersection of Clinton and Fairview avenues to permit the construction of a proposed office complex was deemed an emergency on a motion by Council member Hugh S. (Bud) Patton and read by title only. The ordinance received unanimous approval.

The rezoning of the 0.42-acre tract of land, situated on the south side of Clinton Avenue, from R-2 to B-1 restricted had been requested by Washington C.H. real estate developer Robert E. Lewis.

Construction of three modern colonial style office buildings has been proposed on the tract of land in the city's Elmwood Addition.

Just prior to the 7:47 p.m. adjournment, City Council chairman John E. Rhoads stated that the city "is not trading a reduction of real estate taxes for the income tax. Instead of a trade we're acting in good faith contrary to what people are asserting," he said.

COUNCIL MEMBER Ralph Cook requested the city manager to contact the Ohio Department of Transportation regarding the progress of a proposal for a U.S. 22 bypass around Washington C.H. The bypass proposal, which was submitted to the city more than 10 years ago, would further reduce truck traffic here.

According to plans in the City Office Building, the proposed bypass would begin near the Stuckey Road, just east of the city, continue northeast behind the Washington Square Shopping Center, cross Columbus Avenue, continue around to Ohio 41-N, just south of Halliday's curve, wind around to intersect with the U.S. 35 bypass and connect with CCC the Highway, west of the city.

Following a suggestion by Council member Billie Wilson, safety committee members Mrs. Bertha McCullough and Donald E. Wood will meet with Paul Lipschutz to consider plans for seven off-street parking spaces on S. Fayette Street at a lot located between Nichol's Mens store and an alley.

Jury selection completed in Kent State shootings

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A jury of eight men and four women was seated today in the trial of eight former Ohio National Guardsmen indicted in the 1970 Kent State shootings.

The jury was seated after pre-emptory challenges by the prosecution and defense rejected 16 prospective jurors. Judge Frank J. Battisti had dismissed several others on the basis of their answers to his questions, usually because they said they already had reached a conclusion or had some feelings about the case.

Martin Planisek of Maple Heights, who works for the school system; Albert Cantale of Bedford Heights, production foreman in an industrial plant; Thomas Hallauer of Elyria, a heating engineer at Oberlin College; Jean Messenger, a Shaker Heights housewife; Jane Bietz, a Lakewood widow; David H. Clingan of Shelby, assistant general manager of an industrial supply company; and Donald J. Braidich, a Euclid electrian.

The defense used its full allottment of 10 pre-emptory challenges, and the prosecution used all of its six.

Ohio retail sales increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Major Ohio cities have fared well in retail sales so far this year, with the eight largest showing increases of up to 13 per cent from a year ago, the Center for Business and Economic Research at Ohio State University reports.

The increases appear to be part of an upward pattern, and range from 3 per cent in Columbus to 13 per cent in Akron, center data indicates. Sales increased 5 per cent in Akron and Cleveland, 4 per cent in Dayton, 7 per cent in Cincinnati, 6 per cent in Toledo and 9 per cent in Youngstown.

Twenty of 25 kinds of Ohio retail businesses surveyed recorded sales above 1973 levels for July, with paint and wallpaper stores leading the way at 23 per cent.

The center said aside from lines which had significant price increases such as hayfeed, farm supply stores, fuel dealers and filling stations, florists and general stores were next at 18 per cent. Appliance and hardware stores were up 17 per cent from sales a year ago.

Personal income in Ohio increased just over 11 per cent from 1972 to 1973, keeping Ohio in fifth place in total personal income nationwide, the center said.

Per capita income also increased 11 per cent, ranking Ohio 20th among the 50 states and the District of Columbia.

The ranking was a drop of four places from 1972, due in large part to the dramatic jump in income in farm states according to U.S. Commerce Department figures.

In 1972, none of the seven plains states surpassed Ohio in average personal income, but five of the seven moved ahead of Ohio in 1973.

A LONG WAY DOWN — Onlookers stand on the bridge at the Ohio 41 and Washington New Martinsburg Road intersection and peer down at the overturned car driven by Timothy J. Glover, 24, of Chillicothe. Glover failed to negotiate a right curve at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, crashed into a guardrail and then the end of the bridge. His car become airborne for 72 feet and landed upside-down at the bottom of the creek. He was pinned in the wreckage for 15 minutes and is presently listed in satisfactory condition at University Hospital in Columbus. Pictured are Fayette County Sheriff's Deputy Don Cox, who investigated the accident (middle), and Sheriff's Sgt. John Emrick (right) and deputy-dispatcher Gary Sword (left), who assisted in the investigation.

Two drivers escape death in spectacular accidents

Two serious traffic accidents, which resulted in injury to both drivers involved — one is presently in a Columbus hospital in satisfactory condition — were reported by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department Wednesday.

The worst of the two accidents occurred at 8:30 p.m., when a car driven north on Ohio 41-S at the Washington-New Martinsburg Road intersection, by Timothy J. Glover, 24, Chillicothe, went out of control on the right curve in that area.

Glover's auto traveled left of center and struck the guardrail, traveled 54 feet and collided with the bridge and then became airborne for 72 feet as the car sailed over the bridge and down to the creek bed, where it landed upside down after striking a fence post owned by Jean and Jay Fannin of Ohio 41-S, during its descent.

GLOVER WAS pinned and unconscious in the wreckage when Fayette County Sheriff's Deputy Don Cox arrived on the scene. Gerstner-Kinzer ambulance service was contacted and Terry Summers, who is a full-time dispatcher at the Sheriff's Department and a part-time ambulance attendant with Gerstner-Kinzer's, worked with Deputy Cox to free Glover. Summers crawled through the shattered back window and managed to free Glover, while Deputy Cox forced open the smashed driver's door with a crow-bar. Summers and full-time ambulance attendent, Tom Weaver, were then able to remove Glover from the wreckage on a body-board. Glover started to regain consciousness at this time.

He sustained multiple lacerations on the left side of his face, a large scalp laceration and suffered back pain. He was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital and then transferred to University Hospital in Columbus, where he is reported in satisfactory condition.

The second accident occurred at 3 p.m. Wednesday, when a car driven by Patsy A. Darling, 41, of 1542 N. North St., was struck in the rear by a semi driven by William G. Peters Jr., 26, of Clifton Forge, Va.

Mrs. Darling was attempting to turn left off U.S. 35 onto Bloomingburg-New Holland Road, when Peters attempted to pass her.

Impact from the collision propelled the Darling auto off the road and into a fence and field owned by Alford M. Carr, 2649 Bloomingburg-New Holland Road, where it overturned on its top.

Mrs. Darling was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital by Gerstner-Kinzer ambulance service, where she was treated for a scalp laceration and released.

Peters was charged by sheriff's deputies for passing at an intersection. His truck was slightly damaged in the mishap, while the Darling auto was demolished.

Sheriff's deputies investigated a third accident Wednesday and Washington C.H. police reported four accidents, two of which were hit-skip mishaps.

A car driven by Carl M. Snell, 31, of 406 E. Temple St., slid through the stop sign at the intersection of Rowe-Ging and Armbrust roads at 12:45 p.m. Wednesday, sheriff's deputies reported.

HIS CAR went off the road and struck a fence owned by Harry Ging, Rt. 2 and a Dayton Power and Light Co. utility pole. Snell was unhurt in the accident.

An accident at the intersection of Market and Forrest streets at 6:55 p.m. Wednesday, involved cars driven by James R. Forsythe, 34, of 703 E. Paint St., and Denise E. Matthews, 19, of 1539 Chillicothe Rd.

Ms. Matthews was cited by Washington C.H. police for failure to yield right of way and both cars were severely damaged.

Forsythe claimed injury from the mishap, but was not treated.

A parking meter was slightly damaged by a car driven by George W. Van Dyke, 65, Jonesboro Road, while he was positioning his auto in a parking place on N. Fayette St., at 2:55 p.m. Wednesday, police reported.

Two hit-skip accidents are presently under investigation by the Washington C.H. Police Department. The first occurred at 3:10 p.m. Wednesday, when a car belonging to Leo R. Sanderson, 1319 Willard St., was moderately damaged while parked in the Washington Square Plaza, in front of Buckeye Mart. The second occurred at 11:45 p.m. Wednesday, when a car owned by Vienna Carson, 715 Columbus Ave., was struck by an unidentified driver in Frisch's parking lot on Clinton Avenue.

President takes campaign into heart of Midwest

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is venturing into America's breadbasket after signing legislation of intense interest to farmers that expands government regulation of the $500 billion-a-year commodities futures exchanges.

Aides said Ford planned to issue a statement today at Des Moines, Iowa, on the bill he signed into law six hours before the Wednesday midnight deadline.

The Iowa capital was the first stop in another day of campaigning for Republican candidates in Ford's effort to avoid what he calls "a vetoproof Congress."

From Des Moines he was heading for Melvin, Ill., and a fairgrounds celebration honoring retiring House GOP Whip Les Arends. After that, he scheduled appearances at two receptions and a Republican fund-raising dinner in Chicago.

The legislation signed by Ford Wednesday night establishes an independent agency topped by a five-member commission to oversee trading of futures contracts. It also brings under regulation contracts that are exempt from various laws but still are subject to the rules of the largely self-governing exchanges.

In commodity future trading, farmers and other producers sell goods for delivery at some future date at a guaranteed price which they think will give them a fair return.

Processors, exporters and other middlemen make the futures purchases, agreeing to prices on such commodities as soybeans, silver, corn, cattle, wheat, sugar and coffee. Speculators also participate in the market.

The commodities themselves seldom change hands, except on paper. But rather, they are exchanged in the interconnected cash market, where prices reflect futures trading.

following the accident. He said the customers affected were situated in area between Don's Auto Sales to Oakland Avenue including residents along Draper and Green streets.

Robbins said normal water service was restored about 9 p.m. Wednesday.

He said the operations at Pennington Bread, Inc., Clinton Avenue, and Avoset Co., Leesburg Ave., were not affected when the water service was lost temporarily.

Robbins, two other Ohio Water Service Co. employes and city street superintendent Bill Duncan were on the scene until about 9 p.m. Wednesday.

George Winkle, manager of the Dayton Power and Light Co. office here, said the gas line was struck had been abandoned by the utility company and no customers were affected. The gas line has been repaired, he said.

City inspector Glenn Tatman said while repairs were being completed the westbound lane of Clinton Avenue was blocked. Traffic was detoured around Leesburg Avenue and Draper Street.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices moved broadly lower for the third straight day today amid profit-taking and fear the country was entering a sharp recession.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was off 11.27 at 633.76. Losers swamped gainers, 1,004 to 158 among 1,484 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said comments by Paul W. McCracken, economic adviser to Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, that the country was entering a "sharp" recession from which it would not emerge before mid-1975 spurred today's falloff in prices, which already had begun for technical reasons after the previous runup.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index fell .68 to 67.91 as the most-active stock, Giant Yellowknife, a gold stock, advanced 1¼ to 13⅝.

Opinion And Comment

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . . By Marquis Childs

Energy, oil and prices

WASHINGTON — Giving with one hand and taking away with the other is the end result of the Ford war on inflation. The income tax will be eased for those in the low brackets, but they will pay more for the energy to light and heat their homes.

In the confusion of advice in the White House, the Nixon holdovers have been urging state regulatory agencies to move rapidly to grant utility rate increases. The dubious reason is that with greater revenues, light and power companies will increase investment in new facilities.

It is far more likely that dividends will jump as the rates go up. And as experience has shown, regardless of demand or a greatly increased supply, these rates never go down.

The burden is imposed on the householder into the indefinite future and economies such as keeping lights on in only one or two rooms will make little difference in his bill.

The same thing applies to the deregulation of natural gas recommended by President Ford in his speech on inflation. The end result will be to increase the cost of gas for home heating to twice or three times the present level. Whether any additional gas will be produced is highly doubtful since producers are reported currently operating full blast.

The General Accounting Office following a 10-month investigation accused the Federal Power Commission of improperly allowing a number of natural gas producers to raise prices to millions of their customers.

Rep. John E. Moss, D., Calif., called the report "one of the most powerful indictments of a federal regulatory agency within memory. Most of the nation's 40 million gas bills have been seriously and adversely affected by the irregularities revealed by the GAO and shown to be commonplace at the FPC."

The report charged that some officials of the commission had owned securities of the companies they regulated, with 19 officials directed to sell securities as a result of the investigation. The FPC entered a blanket denial of the charges.

In the Nixon years the regulatory agencies were stacked with men out of industry. They were supposed to do a turnabout and start regulating the very industries from which they had come.

In most cases they have long-term appointments so that if President Ford were inclined to reshape the regulatory bodies with consumer-oriented members or at least with regulators capable of objective judgment, he would be stymied.

In a remarkable speech, the chairman of one of these agencies spoke a few home truths the other day. Lewis A. Engman of the Federal Trade Commission told the Financial Analysts Federation meeting in Detroit:

"Most regulated industries have become federal protectorates, living in a world of cost-plus, safely protected from the ugly specters of competition, efficiency and innovation."

He urged that every regulation or regulatory policy contributing to inflation be re-examined. Earlier Engman had announced that the FTC would pursue a vigorous antitrust program as the most effective and important contribution to protect the consumer.

The rush for profits in the domestic oil industry matches the gouging of the Arabs. Of the roughly 16 million barrels a day consumed in this country 6 million is from domestic sources.

Of that total 40 per cent is rated as "new" oil, that is to say from new sources, and is therefore free of price control. It is bringing $11 a barrel, matching the quadrupled price of the Arab producers. As Arab spokesmen have noted, if you want to reduce prices why don't you take action at home?

In the muddle over energy, oil and prices, President Ford may count himself an innocent. At his press conference he said he was in favor of phasing out the oil-depletion allowance which is one of the biggest tax loopholes. His press secretary, Ron Nessen, said the following day that the President had meant to say that phasing out the allowance should be linked to removing all federal controls on oil prices.

Anyone who thinks that the bite on electricity, oil and gas will not count at the ballot box is living in a dream world.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 25

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

A recently proffered suggestion to which you may not have given much thought could, quite unexpectedly, open new doors to progress. Think about it NOW.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

You'll do best now if you cooperate with the plans of others instead of insisting on your own. Some friction possible in the latter case.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

An excellent day for all creative activity. Superiors should take an interest in your ideas. You can expect good cooperation from all, so take advantage of this chance to advance your status.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

A mixed kind of day in terms of work. Your ideas are good, but you can meet with obstacles. There may be more to do than you expected. Take all in stride.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Consider all new propositions and suggestions carefully before accepting. Some deceptive influences, now prevalent, could lead to unpleasant involvements unless you are alert.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

As with Gemini, now's the time to put forth some of your more unusual ideas. Influential persons in your job or business should be extremely receptive.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Correct errors or flaws in your program as soon as you note them. You are keen, so they won't be hard to detect. Don't be overly cautious and lose advantages, however.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Not everything may run as anticipated, but you have the talent for prudent pushing and also for waiting out results, so day should wind up satisfactorily.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

A new contact could be exceedingly important to your career aims. Activity increases in areas where you have recently been stymied.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Don't commit yourself to an inflexible program. Unforeseen circumstances will demand alterations — which could be better in the long run.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

You find now that your creative urges are demanding some new form of expression. Don't smother the feelings. Try that new avenue.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

A fine day for teamwork. Many useful ideas will result from an exchange of views with associates. Some good news indicated in the p.m.

YOU BORN TODAY have been endowed with a dynamic personality, tremendous ambition and outstanding versatility. You are capable of magnificent achievement "on your own" and are equally adept at coordinating your efforts with those of others for forceful, effective results. Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

If (just as an example) you were paying tax at the rate of 30 mills, then your tax bill would be 30 mills multiplied by the evaluation of your property — whether it be agricultural land, industrial, commercial or residential real property.

Ten would be mandated or unvoted millage, the remaining 20 would be voted millage.

There is a provision in the law which says the county auditor, in case of an increase in evaluation, shall reduce the voted millage in the same ratio as the increase in evaluation. Please note, this applies to voted millage and specifically does not apply to the 10 mills of mandated millage.

So, be assured, as the result of our sexennial reappraisal and annual updating, your tax load is going to increase if for no other reason than that stated above.

Now, if you're feeling not too disturbed, listen to this: Two very important pieces of legislation vitally affecting the taxpayer have been introduced in the Ohio legislature. Either S.B. 477 or H.B. 1093 would, if enacted into law, remove the present requirements that property tax rates be reduced when the Board of Tax Appeals (which has almost dictatorial powers) orders an increase in the aggregate value of real estate in any taxing subdivision (such as Fayette County) or when the taxable value of real estate is increased by the application of a uniform taxable value per cent (35 per cent) of true value pursuant to the order of the Board of tax Appeals.

If either bill becomes law agricultural, industrial, commercial and residential real property taxpayers would be faced, depending economic conditions, with (note carefully) higher property tax bills every year, since voted tax levies would no longer be subject to reduction as they are now when the board issues an order to the county auditor to increase his county's tax duplicate.

Backers of these measures, school groups principally, cite the need for schools to secure additional revenues to offset yearly cost increases due to inflation.

If these measures (either one) had been law in 1972 when Athens County completed its reappraisal which increased agricultural land values 107.6 per cent, the real estate taxes would also have increased 107.6 per cent.

This could well put many landowners in an impossible situation if they wish to continue farming their acres. We should remember "farming the acres" is the only way I know of producing food.

P.S. Did you know that a study was made by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare at a cost of $70,000 comparing the perspiration odor of the Alaskan Eskimo and the Australian Aborigine? Said the Department of HEW, which financed the project, "we wanted to study stress reaction to climate."

Another View

Inflation fatal to family farm

NASHVILLE, Ill. (AH) — Like his father, Casimer Kozuszek worked all his life to leave something for his sons: the family dairy farm. But his sons won't have it. Inflation milked it dry.

"The feed is too high and milk wasn't high enough," 66-year-old Kozuszek says. "I sold out because my boys were supposed to take over but there wasn't enough money and I'm getting too old."

Kozuszek sold his herd of dairy cows at auction in September. He still lives on the farmland, but no longer as a farmer. His son, who would have run it, works in a factory.

His voice accented by traces of his ancestral Poland, Kozuszek talks in plain terms: dollars and cents.

"In 1950, '51 and '52, corn was 85 cents a bushel and milk was more than $6 a hundredweight. Now corn is $3.80 a bushel and milk is still only a little over $6."

When Kozuszek sold his herd, milk for cheese and other commercial products brought only $6.39, though this month the price reached $7.50.

"Everything else is too high," he says. "Two years ago baling wire was $9. This year $23. Seven years ago a tractor cost $9,000. Now the same tractor is $18,000."

The Agriculture Department predicts that by 1980 half the nation's family-run dairy farms will vanish, the herds auctioned to large producers.

The Kozuszek farm was never a big operation: 50 cows, 190 acres. But until recently, it was a living. Clarence Kozuszek, 21, wanted to take over.

"Yes, I would, if it would have been profitable," he says. "We weren't coming out ahead, you know. We were just paying for the bills and that's it."

Now Clarence earns $3.80 an hour on the night shift at a factory.

"It's a lot easier," he says. "There you work for what you get. On a dairy farm you work all day long and all night and you'll have nothing to show for it. You don't know what's going to happen from day to day. If you can't make a living on the farm you have to do something else."

The trouble with farming, as the Kozuszeks see it, is that farmers won't work together. "They are going to have to organize like everybody else, like union labor. If they don't they are going to go broke," says Casimer.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Fancy words for the same old story

DEAR ABBY: Chuck and I have been married for 20 years. I was 17 and he was 18 at the time, and we were very much in love. I still am, but I'm not so sure about Chuck.

Recently Chuck expressed the need for less togetherness and more freedom to explore and develop ourselves as individuals. We talked it out and he admitted that his basic need was sexual experimentation. Chuck says he doesn't want to deceive me, but his need has now become an obsession.

We have three children and everything to stay together for. Chuck suggested one night out a week for both of us and no questions asked. I don't want another man, and I'm afraid if I agree to such an arrangement, Chuck might find someone else.

Please advise me.

CHUCK'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Chuck has suggested in highfalutin language that you both swing with others. To my way of thinking (and regardless of what married swingers say) this would signal the beginning of the end.

DEAR ABBY: I have had the same beauty operator for about three years. I like her work very much, but she does something that I find very irritating, and I am amazed that somebody hasn't called her on it.

She addresses her patrons by their last names. "Johnston, I'll be with you in a moment. Smith, you're not dry yet. Jones, take the first dryer."

Perhaps most of her customers are either used to it, or they don't mind, but I find it rather rude.

Am I being petty? Or shouldn't a hairdresser address her patrons as either Miss or Mrs.?

CALL ME MRS.

DEAR CALL ME: A hairdresser (and anyone also who performs a personal service) should address clients as "Miss" or "Mrs." unless she is asked to address them in some other way. If it irritates you, tell her. No sense getting hotter under the dryer.

DEAR ABBY: I sure hope you can help me. I am 14, and already I am ruining my life. My problem is I am always lying to impress people, shock them, or just to get attention, I guess. If I tell the truth, I stretch it so much, it's not the truth any more.

I have told some terrible lies that got a lot of people into a lot of trouble. Once I scratched my own face up, and told everyone that my mother did it, just to get people to feel sorry for me.

I don't take drugs or anything like that. I just lie and make up stories. I'm such a good liar I almost believe some of the things I make up. Please help me to stop lying, Abby. I don't have a friend in the world.

DON'T SIGN THIS

DEAR DON'T: Chronic lying is a symptom of a deeper emotional problem. You need professional counseling. If your school has a psychologist, ask to see him (or her). If none is available, ask your mother to arrange an appointment with someone at your local mental health clinic. The person who knows he has a problem and seeks help is well on the way to solving it. Good luck.

Statewide dental care program set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Some $2 million will be used to underwrite a statewide dental care program for Ohio school children and six regional Pediatric Pulmonary Care Centers, if a plan is approved by a U.S. District Court in New York, Atty. Gen. William J. Brown announced Tuesday.

The funds are part of Ohio's $3.7 million settlement with five drug companies. A 1968 lawsuit was filed by the Ohio attorney general, along with the U.S. Department of Justice, several other states and individual consumers, against the companies for allegedly fixing the price of tetracycline from 1953 5o 1966.

The $2 million represents money remaining in an "unclaimed consumer fund" left after consumers who thought they had been overcharged for the drug filed claims.

If the proposals, selected by a five-member council, are approved by the court, the money will be equally distributed between the two programs.

The Metropolitan Health Planning Corp., of Cleveland would receive $1 million to provide a system of dental education, with the assistance of the Ohio Dental Association, on a no-cost basis to every school district in Ohio.

The pulmonary care centers, to be located in Akron, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Dayton, Toledo and Columbus, would receive funds to develop and support a network of treatment centers for chronic pulmonary disorders in children.

Man faces death penalty

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — One man faces a possible death sentence and a jury continued deliberations today on the fate of another in the July 17 slaying of a Cincinnati policeman.

A three-judge panel in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court on Wednesday found Ricardo Woods, 24, guilty of aggravated murder of a policeman in the commission of a robbery.

A jury in another courtroom retired for the night after deliberating nine hours in the case of Roland Reaves, 23, charged in the same case.

Patrolman David Cole was shot five times with separate guns when he responded to a holdup alarm at a carryout store in the Walnut Hills section of Cincinnati. The officer fired several shots before he died.

Both defendants live in Cincinnati. They were tried simultaneously in separate courtrooms.

The panel, which included Judges William R. Matthews, William S. Mathews and Robert L. Black, rejected Woods' offer to plea guilty to a lesser charge of murder.

The Ohio Revised Criminal Code now allows the death penalty for the shooting of a policeman in connection with an aggravated robbery.

The defense for both men contended that they had decided against robbing the store and were fleeing when stopped by Cole.

Reaves contended the officer began the shooting and he fired in self-defense.

Woods said at his trial that he attempted to talk to the officer but Reaves pushed past him and began shooting.

Court officials said Woods would face another court hearing before sentence is determined. The court ordered a psychiatric examination and a pre-sentence investigation.

Woods' hearing was scheduled for next month.

Cincinnati jaywalker fined for assault

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Heinz P. Daschke, 20, of Cincinnati, the first pedestrian arrested in a jaywalking crackdown by police, has been fined $100, but on another charge.

Daschke, angered by the citation after stepping from a Mount Adams section bar into the street, socked Lt. Mike Heinz in the mouth, knocking off the officer's glasses. Daschke said it was an accident.

Daschke, who had no previous record, apologized to the policeman in Hamilton County Municipal Court Wednesday and was fined for the assault.

'Grandma Moses' is topic of Progressive Club meeting

Mrs. Ruth Sheeley, president of the Progress Club of Jeffersonville, began the meeting with a seasonal poem, "The Wishing Pumpkins" when 14 members and one guest answered roll call by naming a painting of Grandma Moses.

Mrs. Rowena Cummins gave an interesting report on one of America's outstanding characters, Grandma Moses.

Grandma Moses has been called a "primitive painter," a term generally applied to artists who have had no professional training. She had a native and almost childish approach to the subject. However, as her technical ability progressed, so did her gifts as a painter and she achieved works which far outranks what one is accustomed to label "primitive."

The artist's work is basically concerned with life on the farm, and landscapes. From her small-town vantage point, the adorable Grandma Moses comes to the defense of the countryside, the empire of foliage and birds, and upholds the rights of nature. She would have all to know that there is still a bit of paradise left on the earth and that art may reach out as far as it will with its most advanced branches, because its is deeply rooted in the rich soil of Grandma Moses' garden.

During the social hour, a salad was served by Mrs. Cummins and Mrs. Margaret Dowler. Mrs. Dale Davidson was a guest.

The .65 of a mill additional tax levy for the Fayette Progressive School was received and discussed by members, who voted in favor of supporting the levy.

Mrs. Lentz and Mrs. Carl Wilt II demonstrated crafts with all members participating.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Maxine Warner, served refreshments. Those present were Mrs. Hilbert Meyer, Mrs. O'Cull, Mrs. Juanita Turner, Mrs. Dean Powell, Mrs. Gladys Warner, Mrs. Maxine Warner, Mrs. Mary Ellen Lininger, Mrs. Violet Davis, Mrs. Hazel Wilt, Mrs. Max Wilson, Mrs. Jamison and the hostess.

Auto chief claims recession here

DETROIT (AP) — Declaring that the auto industry and the nation are in a recession, the chairman of Chrysler Corp. has called for President Ford to work toward easing credit availability and encouraging consumers to spend rather than save their money.

"Recession is here in the automobile industry. Recession is here in the building industry. I would say recession is here in the country," Lynn A. Townsend said at a news conference Wednesday.

He said the President's economic policies are aimed in the wrong direction because recession and slack demand have superseded inflation as the auto industry's key problem.

"Our two problems in this country are inflation and recession. I think inflation has peaked, and very rapidly recession is taking the major spotlight," Townsend said.

"We have been in a program here where apparently the opinion has been that we can control inflation by dampening down consumer purchasing.

"I think it has gotten to the point that we should direct our efforts at stimulating the economy through consumer purchasing, rather than further depressing it."

The news conference came one day after the nation's No. 3 automaker announced an $8 million loss on third quarter sales. Chrysler showed an $11.2 million profit in U.S. and Canadian vehicle sales, but that was offset by a $19.2 million loss in overseas sales.

Chrysler raised its prices an average $415 in September, and Townsend said Wednesday there is "no doubt" another price increase will be put on 1975 Chrysler vehicles in the "near-term future."

Townsend confirmed that Chrysler is considering closing its Jefferson Avenue plant here, which builds full-sized and luxury models and employs 5,000 workers, as an economy move.

The firm's auto sales are down 18.4 per cent so far this year. Industrywide sales were off 28 per cent in mid-October from levels a year ago. For the year, sales are off 21 per cent.

Kissinger, Brezhnev hold meet

MOSCOW (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger met today with Soviet Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev to offer a series of options for a new treaty limiting offensive nuclear weapons.

Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko also was present for the meeting in the Kremlin. It was Kissinger's first meeting with the party chief since the American arrived Wednesday.

Details of the American proposals were not disclosed. But a senior American official told newsmen the United States is prepared to join the Soviet Union in negotiations for a broad agreement instead of concentrating on restricting the development of missiles with nuclear warheads.

An agreement on guidelines for the arms negotiations would be approved by President Ford and Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev at a minisummit meeting the Russians have proposed be held during the President's visit to the Far East next month.

American officials consider Kissinger's visit a major test of the Soviet interest in negotiating an extension of the 1972 pact limiting some offensive nuclear weapons. That agreement expires in 1977, and the two governments have agreed in principle to work out a new treaty valid until 1985.

The fact that the Soviets proposed the Ford-Brezhnev meeting was taken by American officials as evidence that they want to continue the policy of detente they forged with the Nixon administration. U.S. officials were also hopeful that the recent compromise with Congress over Jewish emigration and Soviet trade benefits would give Kissinger's mission a push forward.

Kissinger also hopes to win Soviet acquiescence to his plan of step-by-step, separate negotiations between Israel and each of its Arab adversaries.

Women priests planning rites

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The Rev. Dr. Jeannette R. Piccard of Minneapolis says she and two other women ordained as Episcopal priests will celebrate the eucharist in New York City's Riverside Church on Sunday.

The three are planning the service despite a declaration of the Episcopal House of Bishops that they are not priests.

The ordination of the Rev. Dr. Piccard, 79, and 10 other women last July was called "irregular" by the church.

Traffic Court

Two cases scheduled for hearing in Municipal Court Wednesday were for charges of driving while intoxicated. One of the defendants pleaded guilty and was sentenced, the other forfeited bond.

Lewis Murphy Jr., 46, Greenfield-Sabina Road pleaded guilty to a DWI charge levied by city police and was fined $200, sentenced to three days in jail and lost his license for 30 days. Acting Judge Omar Schwart also found Murphy guilty of a stop sign violation and fined him $25.

Jerome L. Mouser, 54, Columbus, was fined $25 after he was found guilty of consuming beer in a motor vehicle.

Two Chillicothe residents were fined $25 each after they were found guilty of passing stopped school buses. Timothy E. Riley, 20, and Cheryl D. Wunsch, 30, had been cited for the offenses by Sheriff's deputies.

Gaylen E. Adkins, 28, of 903 Forest St., was fined $25 for failing to drive on the right half of the roadway and Jimmy McCallister, 18, of 128 W. Elm St., was fined $25 for speeding. Both had been cited by city police.

Dividend approved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Directors of Buckeye International Inc. approved a quarterly dividend of 5 cents a share, payable Dec. 2 to shareholders of record Nov. 15.

Receiving stolen property charge dismissed in court

A charge of receiving stolen property, a felony charge, was dismissed in a preliminary hearing in Municipal Court Wednesday at the request of the assistant Fayette County prosecuting attorney John H. Roszmann.

Barbara Wilson, 35, of 114 W. Paint St., had been charged by city police Saturday in connection with a burglary of a home on E. Paint Street which is owned by Mrs. Peter Hay of Summit, N.J.

According to her defense counsel, Otis R. Hess, the police had found stolen property in an abandomed shed on her property, but the state did not have evidence showing that she had any knowledge that the items had been stashed in the garage.

Acting Judge Omar A. Schwart granted the prosecution's motion to dismiss the charge.

Council rejects cable TV hike

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Hamilton City Council unanimously rejected a $1 monthly cable television firm's rate increase request citing the firm's failure to extend service to all the city's 70,000 residents.

Charles Greiner, attorney for the Hamilton Cable Communications Co., a subsidiary of the Telecommunications Corp., Denver, Colo., said the firm was broke and needed the city's help.

A WASHINGTON C. H. man received a suspended 90-day jail term on a charge of resisting arrest filed by city police. Harry L. Hollar, 40, was fined $25 after pleading guilty to intoxication, and was handed the suspended jail term for resisting arrest on the offense.

Charges filed against three area men were dismissed at the request of the plaintiffs.

A charge of assault filed against Richard J. Harris, 32, Mount Sterling, was dismissed as was a charge of disorderly conduct filed against Timothy Wiiliams, 24, of Dogtown Road. Randy Nichols, 23, of 1004 Delaware St., was released after a charge of assault was dismissed.

Lewis G. Christopher, 27, of 328 Broadway forfeited $25 bond on a charge of illegally hunting rabbits. The charge was filed by Jerry Cremeans, state game protector.

Progressive school analysis

Retarded children can be helped

By SANDY FOSSON
Record-Herald Staff Writer

Mental retardation.

Through the years, the word has accrued many different meanings. Those people who were said to be "mentally retarded" were either locked away in some insane asylum or treated like animals because through human error, they were believed to be "damned by God," "incurably crazy" or "infested with disease." Sounds barbaric, right?

YET JUST last year (1973, not 1773), a survey was conducted in Fayette County and an alarming number of school-aged children and young adults were being harbored at home and withheld from society because they were physically or mentally handicapped.

And according to Carl Whitaker, administrator at the Fayette County Progressive School, there are still possibly 20-30 young adults sitting at home doing absolutely nothing because Fayette County is one of only four counties in Ohio which does not have an adult program for the mentally handicapped.

The American Medical Association defines mental retardation as referring to "subaverage general intellectual functioning which originates during the developmental period and is associated with impairment in one of the following: maturation, learning or social adjustment."

According to Sam Kirk, author of "Educating Exceptional Children," it is estimated there are three to four trainable children living at home or in institutions per 1,000 school-age children.

The local Fayette County Progressive School has increased its enrollment from eight children when the school started in 1967 to a total of 45 with expected increases again next year. These 45 children are broken down into five home-bound students, who are so severely handicapped mentally or physically they cannot attend the school and must be taught in their homes; five developmental students, which are school-aged children more handicapped than the others in the school; seven primary; eight intermediate; and 10 junior students.

These students, ages three to twenty-one, are being taught by five certified teachers through the Ohio Board of Mental Retardation at the school from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. However, the preschoolers attend only three, one-half day sessions. Each has been tested and showed an IQ of 50 or lower, the level at which students are excluded from public schools.

In the school, they are instructed under six board areas of study — communication, basic knowledge, social behavior, self care, body usage and practical skills. They are taught to share and communicate with each other and maintain their personal habits, such as body appearance and health care.

"It takes a mental age of six and a half to be able to read," said Whitaker. "Some of the students may reach that level to achieve minimal, survival skills; others may never learn."

The Fayette Progressive School is faced with a common dilemma of Ohio schools this year. Because of its move to the larger, Sunnyside Elementary school facility and increased, inflationary costs, the school has been forced to propose a .65-mill levy for additional operating funds.

WITH PASSAGE of the levy, the present budget of $61,000 would increase to $63,000. Included in the proposed levy would be an adult activities center to be established at the school next fall. Under the program, mentally handicapped adults would be paid to do menial jobs while at the same time; they would be engaged in a useful capacity and obtain self-satisfaction.

Tuesday, the school conducted an open house for parents and public to observe the functioning of the facility. Those who watched were awed by the accomplishments. True, some of the children were unable to support themselves, others opened their months but the right words refused to form and still others could not remember just how the tune went, but above all — their smiles and laughter prevailed.

One worker at the school was overheard as saying, "These children enjoy being with one another more than the average child." They were exceptional in all aspects of the word.

While evaluating the Fayette Progressive School, a postage stamp just recently published by the U.S. Postal Service comes to mind with the inscription — "Retarded Children Can Be Helped."

Mideast receives big farm imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm exports to the Middle East and North Africa may soar to $2 billion this fiscal year, accounting for nearly 10 per cent of total U.S. farm sales overseas, says the Agriculture Department.

The region, stretching from Morocco to Iran, bought $1.4 billion worth of U.S. farm products in the year ending last June 30, up from $521 million in 1972. Officials said oil revenues have been a major factor.

"Demand for food was strong before this major change occurred, but foreign exchange shortages limited food imports for some countries in the area prior to 1973, particularly Egypt," the department said.

The analysis was included in a monthly report, Foreign Agricultural Trade of the United States, published by the department's Economic Research Service. It was written by John B. Parker Jr. and Michael E. Kurtzig of that agency.

Although all the countries in the regions do not have oil, the flow of capital from those that do — including Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Abu Dhabi — have helped others build up their foreign exchanges.

"U.S. farm exports to the area could reach $2 billion in fiscal 1975, mostly because of larger sales of wheat to Iran, Turkey and Egypt, and rising sales of rice to Iran, Iraq and the Arabian peninsula," the report said.

Also, the report said, sales of a wide variety of processed U.S. food to the Arabian peninsula countries are still thriving, including tomato products, canned fruits and juices, canned peas and beans, honey and popcorn.

Wheat exports in 1974-75 could reach five million metric tons for a total value of $900 million, compared with 4.2 million tons valued at $687 million last season, the report said.

Rice exports are expected to total more than 450,000 tons worth $300 million, up from 156,407 tons valued at $90 million last fiscal year.

Total U.S. farm exports to all countries are expected to be around $21 billion for the year ending next June 30, about the same as the record value set in 1973-74.

While quantities of some major items are expected to decline this year — including smaller total exports of wheat and corn — higher prices are pushing up the overall values.

During the first two months of the current fiscal year, for example, the total export value was $3.08 billion, up 14 per cent from July-August 1973 despite a 6 per cent decline in actual quantities shipped.

The July-August export value of wheat was $4.24 per bushel, compared with $2.90 during the same two months last year, according to USDA records. Rice was 23 cents per pound, compared with 16 cents a year earlier.

Commission's recommendations studied

County government study controversial

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The final report of the Ohio Commission on Local Government Services has been submitted to Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan. The bi-partisan commission has submitted 11 individual studies concerning various aspects of government services. Incorporated into each study are the commission's recommendations for improved services. After some necessary explanation of the commission's composition and purpose, the following article will cover in some detail one of the more controversial of these studies — the recommendation of a new form for the structure of county governments.)

By GEORGE MALEK

On April 6, 1972, Ohio Gov. Gilligan asked a panel of 52 volunteers to investigate the efficiency of governmental services. The volunteers represented a wide range of professional men and women, including state legislators, university professors, county commissioners, city councilmen, and business executives. Members of the group covered a wide spectrum of political affiliations and varying degrees of involvement in the political arena. This diversification is demonstrated by the fact that minority reports are found in nearly every study.

A number of paid staff members and professional consultants were engaged to assist the commission in its research. They were paid through grants from six philanthropic foundations and no tax money was used to finance the study.

THE ONLY instructions given by the governor were that the commission examine and evaluate (1) the allocation of responsibility for public services at the various levels of government, (2) the constitutional and legislative impediments to effective public services, (3) the structural and financial capabilities of local governments, and (4) the interrelationship of the various levels of government.

In order to accomplish this the commission selected specific areas for study, and then held public hearings, surveys, subcommittee meetings and hundreds of hours of discussions to gather information and compile its reports.

The findings of the commission have been submitted for consideration by the governor. Although the governor may make some recommendations to the legislature, neither the governor nor the legislature is under any obligation to act on the commission's proposals.

Perhaps the most potentially far-reaching of the panel's recommendations is in its study of the structure of local government.

As the commission began studying the means by which communities might improve public services such as wastewater and solid waste disposal, law enforcement, local correctional facilities and transportation, it became apparent that the very structure of county government often hampered local officials in their efforts to improve public services.

County government is an arm of the state government. Rules and regulations which dictate how county government is structured are determined by the Ohio legislature, but these have received little attention since 1900. Since that time, tremendous changes have taken place, populations have multiplied, residents have migrated to a more urbanized way of life, transportation needs have been transfigured beyond recognition and outhouses have been replaced by sprawling treatment plants.

As the population has grown, the problems of law enforcement, pollution, waste disposal and transportation have grown proportionately. The commission concluded that these problems have at times exceeded the county government's ability to respond, and will continue to do so as long as it is handcuffed by an archaic structural design.

The county's power is delegated by the Ohio legislature. However, the "implied powers" rest with the state. This means that unless authority to act is specifically given to the county, it is retained by the state. When situations arise which are not covered by existing law, the county in many cases cannot take action without an act of the legislature.

The commission has recommended that county governments be allowed to take any action it deems necessary unless such action is specifically prohibited by state law. The panel members concluded that giving implied power to the individual county will make local governments more responsive to the needs of its constituents.

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENTS, including the City of Washington C.H., already have such latitude. Municipal governments may pass city or village ordinances, counties cannot; cities and villages can elect to have a sewage treatment facility which each resident is compelled to use and help finance, again county governments cannot.

Another problem area identified by the commission was that of overlapping responsibility between elected officials, with two or more officials responsible for the same services. The members have suggested that such overlapping be minimized by having only one office responsible for each area of public service.

With only one office responsible for a particular service, the voters would have no difficulty determining which officials should be replaced if they were dissatisfied with the services rendered.

One conflict in county government cited by the commission is in the construction and care of the county highway system. The county commissioners of each county are responsible for the maintenance of county roads. Their only means of carrying out road construction is through the county engineer's office, but since the county engineer is an elected official, he is under no obligation to comply with the wishes or desires of the county commissioners.

Some counties are fortunate, they have a great deal of cooperation between the offices of the commissioners and the engineer. Others are not. There, a lack of cooperation leaves county roads in substandard condition, and the residents are unclear as to which office is responsible for the lack of quality maintenance. Voters are unclear because two different offices are responsible for the same work.

The commission has recommended that the county engineer be appointed by the county commissioners. In this way the engineer would be directly responsible to the commissioners, and any blame or laurels for the condition of the roads could be directly attributed to the efficiency of the commissioners. The commissioners would also be able to set the salary for the engineer, raising it to whatever level was necessary to attract the quality of person demanded by the commissioners. The engineers salary is now set by state statute without consideration of the qualifications possessed by the individual engineer or the amount of work demanded by a particular county.

A similar situation involves the civil work of the county prosecuting attorney. The prosecutor not only represents the state in criminal matters, but also advises the county commissioners on civil matters. In this capacity, he is an advisor to the commissioners, but is selected by a vote of the populus, and those who must act on his recommendations have no voice in the selection process. If the commissioners appoint their own counsel, then they alone are responsible for any legal difficulties in which they are involved.

The commission on local government suggested that in addition to an elected county prosecutor, who would handle criminal matters, the county commissioners be allowed to create and staff a legal department for civil consultation. This seems to be especially important in large counties, and is often done in a sense by prosecutors who have assistants to whom they often delegate either the civil or criminal responsibilities. Fayette County pays the salary for such an assistant because of the prosecutor's workload.

The commission further recommended that there be a county administrator in each county to serve in a capacity similar to a city manager. He would serve as little more than a clerk in very small counties, but would be its chief administrative agent in larger counties. The salary would be determined by the commissioners according to the county's needs.

Included in the recommendations for restructuring of county government were the elimination of the county coroner as an elected post and the suggestion that the county treasurer and county auditor be incorporated into one position.

ACCORDING TO the commission's study, most races for coroner are uncontested and the majority of coroners would prefer that they be known as professional medical personnel, not politicians. It adds that the peak season of work for the county auditor is the slack season for the treasurer and vise versa. Therefore, the commission concluded that the offices might be more efficient if the two offices were combined.

The commission noted that it found municipal governments seemed to have a very efficient system of providing public services. Interviews with municipal officials revealed that no legislation was deemed necessary to assist their administration of public services. The panel also found township governments to be very effective and responsive to their constituents.

The commission emphasized that the purpose of its recommendations was to give each county the necessary tools to provide better public services and the flexibility to become more responsive to the needs of its constituents.

The commission felt that if county governments became more responsive and efficient the current trend toward increasing state and federal control could be halted, and more authority could be retained by the lower levels of government in each county.

Dormant ability is revived at age 63

BY MARK THELLMANN

Lawrence Jones discovered what he was meant to do in his lifetime nine years ago, at the age of 63! He has been happily creating and inventing ever since.

It's hard to describe what Jones does in the garage-shop behind his home at 1044 Yeoman St. In one short sentence - he makes things, but it's much more than that. He collects what many people would see as junk and turns it into useful, beautiful articles, anyone would be proud to display in their living room.

ENJOYING HIS CREATIONS — Lawrence Jones takes a breather from working on his projects in his garage-shop at 1044 Yeoman St. At the age of 71, Jones puts in at least a four-hour day working on the furniture items he restores and builds, aside from attending flea markets and gun shows to sell his work and traveling all over the state in search of parts he needs for his projects. On the right is an end-table he made with marble inlaid top and two sets of working drawers. The set in the middle is for show and does not open.

HE USES his artistic ability to make lamps out of old sewing machines, and coffee tables and end tables out of their bases. He can piece together parts from discarded furniture and create a lovely new piece, totally different from what it had been and usually more useful.

When asked how he had acquired this talent which lay dormant so many years in his hands and head, he replied, "Throughout my life I have worked many years at many different jobs. In 1923, I left Washington C.H. where I was born, to work for what was at that time, Winslow Glass in Columbus. After four and one-half years there, I left to become a farm hand. In 1934, I returned to Washington C.H. and worked as a maintance man for the Cudahay Food Co. for 24 years and then I retired. Probably my greatest asset was my ability to observe and pickup immediately what other people do. For example, I once watched tradesmen laying bricks and was able to work as a brick-layer for awhile after my retirement. People would ask how long I had been in the trade, after commenting favorably on my work and I would smile and tell them not very long. They would never believe me!" Jones exclaimed.

Jones also commented about his fscination with machines.

"I would observe a machine doing something and mentally take it apart and put it back together with parts from other machines I had seen, in attempt to make it more efficient and less complex."

Jones' garage-shop verifies this. He has constructed a drill press, a saw for cutting marble, a grinder for polishing marble (he uses slabs of marble for his remodeled sewing machine table-tops), and many other practical tools.

Jones' first project dealt with woodworking. He made lamenated lamps from all different kinds of wood. One of these lamps, which can be found in his living room, stands about three feet high (without the shade) and contains layers of: walnut, oak, cherry, butternut, cedar, maple, sassafrass, cyprus, elm, hickory, ash, fir, honeylocust, Brasil rosewood, mohogany, hackberry, and a top piece of rare Logan Elm, which has quite a story behind it.

"That piece of wood came from one of the largest trees in Ohio, " Jones explained. It was so huge U.S. 23 was built around it, where it was located between Columbus and Circleville. The tree was wider than a car and no one really remembers how tall it was. Unfortunately, it had be be cut down 11 years ago because it was dying. The man contracted to do the job was told to fell it and as secretly as possible, get rid of it, for fear of everyone swarming around trying to get a piece of this historic landmark."

Jones stated he was given a piece on the sly and anxiously requested this information not be put in print, but reconsidered saying, "Oh, I guess I can't get in trouble anymore for having it, but I sure hope someone doesn't read this and come to take my lamp apart!"

Jones told of a time a friend of his came to visit and spotted the piece of Logan Elm in the lamp immediately saying, "I've got some of that too," so evidentally there was more than one piece which slipped through the wood-cutter's fingers.

The business end of Jones' hobby used to be conducted at the Fayette County gun shows, but now over half of his sales are accomplished over the telephone or through his front door.

"Things are going so well, I put in at least four hours a day just to keep up with my orders," Jones said.

His "day" consists of getting up between 5:30 a.m. and 6 a.m. every morning, eating breakfast and then working til noon and usually returning to his shop in the afternoon or early evening.

(Please turn to Page 13)

SETTING THE MARBLE — Lawrence Jones fits the marble top perfectly on one of his sewing machine tables. His garage behind his house has been transformed into this well-equipped shop area, but Jones admitts he's starting to get crowded and if he had more room he'd expand his operation.

Aside from the time put in the shop, Jones is also on the road quite abit, looking for the parts he needs for his projects and getting new ideas from everything he sees.

"I never know when or where an idea will come. I was paying my respects to a deceased friend at the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home and spotted a unique endtable assembly awhile ago. That table in the corner was built shortly therafter, based on the design I had seen," Jones explained and pointed his finger.

One of Jones' best sellers is his sewing machine-marbletop tables and his sewing machine lamps. His procedure for making a table is to take the original apart and then choose the number and type of drawers he wants the new table to have, if he decides not to use the original drawers. He has a vast selection of drawers (he has purchased 126 sewing machines and tables to date), stacked up along one wall in his shop. He then applies a liquid paint and varnish stripper with a brush, lets it soak in for 10 minutes and then wipes it off. Then a solution of sodium-phosphate and water is applied to remove all the residue and the table and drawers are left to dry for three days.

"THE CHEMICAL stripping is so efficient, very little sanding, if any, is ever required," Jones commented. "I then cut the frame and the marble to fit it and piece everything back together."

The cost of Jones' projects are very reasonable - so reasonable he has been blamed for undercharging.

"I personally feel if I can get back my original investment and a little profit, that's all I need and all I deserve," Jones stated.

The aforementioned tables run from $45 through $65 and the marble alone would cost a customer that!

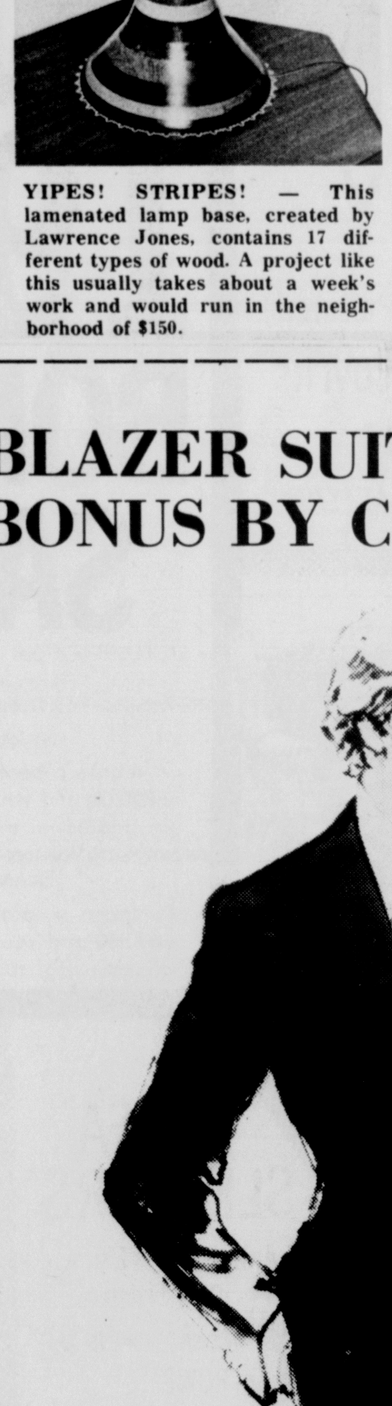

Jones looked back over his 71 years of life and sadly admitted, "How I wish I would have done this at the very beginning of my working years. It's great to be in business for yourself and it's fantastic to be doing something you love to do so much there is no work involved. This is the kind of retirement every person should have!"

CHOOSING A SET OF DRAWERS — One wall of Lawrence Jones' garage-shop is filled with drawers. The ones pictured with the white tags on them have already caught customers eyes and are reserved for specially ordered items. Jones used to sell his projects at flea markets and gun shows, but now most of his business comes by way of telephone or house visits.

SEWING MACHINE? — Maybe to some, but to Lawrence Jones, it's a lamp. This is one of many of Jones' projects in which he came up with something totally different from the original article, during his restoration of it.

YIPES! STRIPES! — This lamenated lamp base, created by Lawrence Jones, contains 17 different types of wood. A project like this usually takes about a week's work and would run in the neighborhood of $150.

PRACTICAL PROJECTS — The design for this table Lawrence Jones constructed was conceived when he saw an interesting table at Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home. Jones stated he never knows when or where something will catch his eye and an idea for a project will strike. He also made the lamented lamp on top of the table and the magazine rack on the right.

WASHINGTON REPORT

From

WILLIAM H. HARSHA

Representative To Congress
6th District, Ohio

The following statement was issued by Ohio Congressman William H. Harsha concerning Mexico's announcement that it would offer Cuba the first chance to buy the newly discovered Mexican oil:

Mexico has been our traditional ally and "good neighbor" for many years. Our friends south of the border have benefitted well from this good neighbor policy since 1943 to the tune of over $300 million in U.S. foreign aid.

Consequently, I am deeply disturbed to learn that this sharing of wealth and good will not be returned when it is us, Uncle Sam, with hat in hand.

MEXICO'S decision to offer Communist Cuba the first option on its newly discovered oil is an affront to the United States of the first order. Furthermore, Mexico's intentions to establish its own oil prices at a level in keeping with those of the highly inflated prices demanded by the Arab nations strikes another blow for continued hardship throughout a world critically short of energy resources at reasonable cost and dangerously tottering on financial disaster.

Mexico has the option to turn this course by helping to lower oil prices, but it evidently is more concerned with keeping the world and the United States over an oil barrel. This incident along with thousands of others points up dramatically what a horrendous waste of the taxpayers dollars our philosophy of buying friends with foreign aid is.

DIVORCE ACTIONS

Charles E. Wisecup, Rt. 2, has filed suit in Common Pleas Court for divorce from Mary A. Wisecup, South Solon. The parties were married Aug. 24, 1974 in Maysville, Ky., and have no children. The plaintiff requests the marriage to be held null and void and that both parties be released from any obligations.

DIVORCES GRANTED

Charles Sexton, 1223 Vanderbilt Drive, has been granted a divorce from Patty W. Sexton, 917 Yeoman St., on grounds of gross neglect of duty. Rights of the respective properties were granted as written in the parties' separation agreement.

Larry N. Hurtt, 1556 Washington Ave., has been granted a divorce from Carolyn M. Hurtt, Chillicothe, on grounds of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty. The plaintiff was awarded custody of the three minor children. The separation agreement was approved in dividing the property between the parties.

Hough free on appeal

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — James Hough, the flamboyant intermediary in the return of two stolen Rembrandt paintings, was expected to be released from jail on a $30,000 appeal bond today.

The 1st Ohio District Court of Appeals on Wednesday ordered the bond while Hough's conviction for extortion, harboring a felon and receiving stolen goods is appealed. He was sentenced to 3-20 years in prison.

Hough was found guilty of illegal activity in representing thieves who stole the paintings, valued at $1.5 million, from the Taft Museum last December. The $100,000 ransom was recovered with the arrests of three men.

The three pleaded guilty to lesser charges and testified against Hough. They said he agreed to help them collect ransom for the paintings.

Ohio Perspective

Gilligan, Rhodes lock horns

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) As the campaign for governor enters its final weeks, all but one of the published polls give incumbent Gov. John J. Gilligan the edge, but shows James A. Rhodes coming up fast.

Rhodes, 65-year-old former two-term Republican governor, calls it a "neck and neck" race. A Columbus Dispatch poll shows Rhodes with an edge, but terms the race too close to call.

Other polls, possibly outdated within two weeks, show Gilligan running as much as 11 percentage points ahead, but even Gilligan's staff doesn't believe the margin is that much.

"I would say that is a little high," said Robert Tenenbaum, Gilligan's press secretary.

Most of those familiar with polling think the spread should be around 6 per cent. Except Rhodes, that is.

"We're going to win," he said flatly.

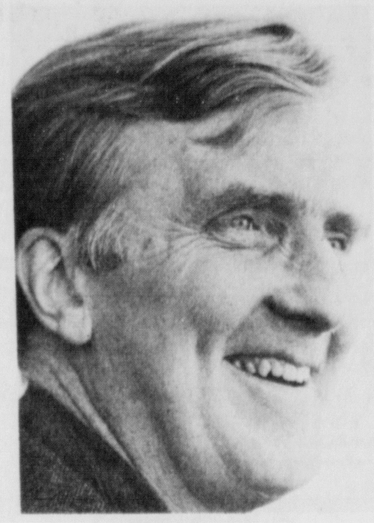

Rhodes has received the endorsement of two major newspapers, but other major newspaper endorsements to date have gone to Gilligan.

Rhodes has been hitting hard on an $80.5 million surplus in the budget found nine days after Gilligan denied any existed, a turnabout the governor blamed on bad staff information.

In a series of radio commercials entitled "Days to Remember," Rhodes recounts the surplus announcement, the closing of state parks and the passage of the state income tax, which he said was sold to benefit schools.

In a speech in Mayfield Heights, Rhodes said seven Ohio schools were in process of closing and that many more will have to close by Jan. 1 "unless they get the state income tax money that the present governor promised them."

Generally Rhodes cites those items to support his overall charge that "Gilligan is guilty of widespread mismanagement of state affairs."

JOHN GILLIGAN

JAMES RHODES

Gilligan has argued that before he became governor mental patients in state institutions lived in "unbelievable, deplorable conditions without proper care."

In four years, he contends, the situation has been turned around, with more doctors, nurses and ward attendants to see that those who can't take care of themselves have somebody to do it.

The state income tax, he said, put schools on their best financial footing in years, although they will have problems because inflation keeps eating away at their financial support.

Of his accomplishments, Gilligan said, "They are not as easy to see as is a highway, a bridge or a lodge in a state park or something.

"It is true that Mr. Rhodes, during his years in office, borrowed more money than any governor in the history of the state and spent it on highways, bridges and various kinds of physical improvements of the state which were highly visible and highly tangible.

"Our effort has been to improve the quality of services in the field of education or in the kind of care that we give the mentally ill and the mentally retarded in mental hospitals, or in our community centers."

When all these things are judged, Gilligan contended, "One has to agree that it makes Ohio a better place to live and a better place to raise our children."

Rhodes has argued that state mental hospitals had more psychiatrists when he left office than they now have. He called Gilligan's statements "puffery."

Gilligan, he said, "will have to double the income tax to provide everything he has promised."

Two-day session looms

Grand jury seated for heavy docket

A grand jury was seated Thursday morning in the Fayette County Common Pleas Court to consider an unusually heavy docket of criminal cases.

Although the cases which will be considered by the grand jury were not released, it was reported that the number of cases greatly exceeds the usual docket. When jurors were being questioned prior to being seated, they were asked whether or not they could stay Friday if another day was necessary to handle all of the cases.

The list of jurors who were seated will be released after the session is concluded.

NOT IN the recent past, and perhaps never before, has there been any concern over the possibility of a two-day grand jury.

Fayette County Common Pleas Court Judge Evelyn W. Coffman presided over the seating of the jurors, and Fayette County prosecuting attorneys James A. Kiger and John H. Roszmann are presenting the state's evidence to the grand jury.

On the basis of the state's evidence presented, the jury will decide which defendants should stand trial for the offenses charged.

Nixon re-enters California hospital

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon, facing possible surgery, has re-entered the hospital here because home treatment for his phlebitis condition proved ineffective, his doctor says.

Nixon limped slightly but was unassisted as he walked through a rear service entrance to be admitted Wednesday night to Memorial Hospital Medical Center for the second time in three weeks. A spokesman for the hospital in this coastal city bordering Los Angeles said the former president was expected to be released by the end of the week.

Nixon apparently made the 50-mile trip from his San Clemente home to the hospital by car.

There had been no advance announcement that he was returning to the hospital. Jack Weiblen, hospital vice president, said Nixon was brought in after dark to reduce publicity.

"He covets his privacy," Weiblen said of Nixon, who resigned as president last Aug. 9.

Dr. John C. Lungren, Nixon's longtime personal physician, said Nixon was taken to the hospital after anticoagulent drugs proved ineffective in treating inflamed veins in Nixon's left leg.

"For the past few days oral anticoagulation medication has been inadequate," Lungren said in a statement to newsmen late Wednesday night.

He said a diagnostic radiology test called a venogram had been performed on the 61-year-old former president after his arrival and showed a "near total occlusion or blockage of blood flow" in the area of Nixon's left thigh.

Lungren noted that several blood clots were found in the swollen leg, but he added that "these clots could be old or fresh."

Nixon received anticoagulents Coumadin orally and heparin intravenously during his first hospital stay, 12 days ending Oct. 4. But only Coumadin had been prescribed for him while he was convalescing at his oceanfront villa at San Clemente.

"If we're not capable of proving adequate prophylactic anticoagulation by oral Coumadin, then the possibility of surgical intervention must be considered," said Lungren. He has treated Nixon since 1952.

Lungren gave no indication what the surgery would involve or when it would be performed if results from Nixon's current hospitalization prove unsatisfactory. Other medical spokesmen were not immediately available to comment on the nature of such surgery.

Lungren performed a lung scan on Nixon Wednesday night and concluded that the right lung was stable and "there was no evidence of any new involvement."

Treatment of the swollen left leg has delayed Nixon's testimony at the Watergate trial in Washington. He has been subpoenaed as a witness for both the defense and prosecution.

The greatest tidal change is in the Bay of Fundy, between Nova Scotia and Maine, where the tide may rise 53½ feet.

Hyperactive rats get 'human' ulcers

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A Washington-based research scientist believes people, like rats, run themselves to death or suffer from psychosomatic ulcers for no apparent reason.

Dr. William P. Pare, chief of the Pavlovian Research Laboratory at Perry Point, Md., Veterans Administration Hospital, presented his case Wednesday to the American Association for Animal Science convention.

Pare noted that exercise has been recommended for animals as well as people, but an experiment with rats had adverse results seldom mentioned.

Two groups of rats were placed in cages. One group was provided with exercise wheels. The other group was not.

Eighty per cent of the rats with exercise wheels were dead inside of 14 days. Autopsies showed they died of ulcers. The rats without the wheels suffered no ill effects.

"We became extremely interested in this phenomenon," said Pare, adding that the rats were under no compulsion, either for food or electronic stimulation, to work.

The hyperactive rats were found on autopsy to suffer from severe stomach ulcers," he said.

He said experimenters discovered the hyperactive rats had sudden weight loss. They were older or female and underwent severe metabolism change.

Their condition could be compared to that of an extremely active person who neglects to eat well or rest but is not necessarily underfed or ill-treated.

These active rats when removed from their stressful activity needed considerable time to recover, and in many cases their ulcers remained, he said.

Pare said that while the phenomenon is not completey understood, the experiments represent a worthwhile research technique whereby the effect of psychosomatic ulcers can be investigated.

OFBF backs land tax formula

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation on Tuesday approved the agricultural land taxation formula proposed by the State Board of Tax Appeals.

The bureau suggested only minor revisions and urged the board to implement the rules gradually to insure they work properly.

At a public hearing Tuesday in Columbus, Dean Simeral, the bureau's director of state activities, suggested changes he said would clarify and strengthen some of the rules.

The changes include better definition of agricultural land areas and text changes to better explain words, concepts, cropping patterns and land capability classes.

The tax rules evolved from voter approval in November 1973 of State Issue One, which allows for the taxation of farm land at agricultural values rather than at the value of its supposed highest rate.

The constitutional amendment is intended to protect rural land from being forced into urbanization by excessively high property taxes.

THE BUSINESS had been owned and operated for the past nine years by Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Willis, 450 Rawlings St.

Marti, a resident of Washington C.H. for the past two and a half years, said he has planned a number of changes in the operation of the business in an effort to develop a supper club type of atmosphere.

The new owner said live entertainment will be geared to appeal to the adult crowd and that he is contemplating the possibility of a small music combo appearing at the restaurant on weeknights from 8 p.m. until 12 midnight with no admission, but rather a minimum cover charge.

The restaurant presently features a sunken bar, but added innovations planned by the new ownership includes the installation of a piano bar.

Marti said he plans to change the menu to add a wider variety of gourmet treats since the restaurant has specialized in basically steaks, chops and seafoods in the past. He also plans minor changes in the salad bar operation.

He plans to continue the ladies night specials, the Friday night buffet and cocktail hour with reduced prices for late afternoon customers.

JACK MARTI

A new Thanksgiving dinner arrangement, to be served from 12 noon until 6 p.m., has also been planned.

Regular business hours will continue as in the past from 4 p.m. until 2 a.m. daily except Sunday and Marti said the business will honor any commitments entered into by the previous management prior to his acquisition such as dates for Christmas parties and wedding receptions.

The business will be owned and operated by Marti and no changes in the restaurant's staff are anticipated. The business presently has 10 employes and the kitchen staff is headed by Mrs. Billie Carper, a well-known chef in the Washington C.H. area.

The restaurant can accommodate over 150 persons in two large dining rooms and a cocktail lounge. The bars seats 12 persons and there are tables inside the bar area for additional customers.

MARTI CAME to Washington C.H. as general manager of the Redman Industries, Inc., plant from Alma, Mich. Prior to joining Redman Industries, Marti had been associated with Control Data Corp., a computer firm located in Omaha, Neb.

He attends St. Andrew's Episcopal Church and is a member of the Washington Country Club, the Washington C.H. Lions Club, the Paul H. Hughey Post 25, American Legion, the Washington C.H. Elks lodge and the Veterans of Foreign Wars organization. He and his wife, Rachel, have five children.

4-H roundup

By CATHY WHITE
4-H Assistant

Most of you have already begun to think about Christmas at this time of the year. Perhaps someone in your family has asked for a bicycle. If so, perhaps the following will be helpful to you.

There are three basic types of bicycles which are the standard, the high riser, and the speed bicycle.

The standard bicycle has a heavy frame and wide tires. These bicycles have the standard handle bars also and come in various sizes such as 20 inches, 24 inches, and 26 inches and so on. The brakes on these bicycles are operated by the pedals.

The high riser bicycle is a variation of the standard bicycle. It usually comes in the 20 inch size with the long and tall handle bars, and the long banana seat. These bicycles come in standard and speed types. The standard ones having no manual gears and having brakes operated by the pedals. The speed ones have manual gears and hand brakes. The gears may be set up on the middle bar like a gear shift for a car and there is usually only three gears.

COLLAPSIBLE bicycles are usually made on the order of high riser either being standard or speed. The only difference being that bicycle either folds or breaks apart into two pieces for easy storage - in a car or camper.

The speed bicycle is the most popular style at this time. These bicycles are at least 26 inches and some are larger. These bicycles are light weight with either standard or curled handle bars. The number of manual gears range from three, five, or ten and are called three, five or 10-speed bicycles. All have hand operated brakes. These bicycles are ideal for long rides and racing.

When buying a bicycle for someone in your family be sure to consider the persons needs and capabilities along with his wants. For instance you may have a small child who wants a ten-speed, but who may not be able to handle such a big bike. A speed high riser may be a better choice for him until he is a little older.

Next week beggar's night will be coming. So drivers be on the alert for excited small children who may unthinkingly dart in front of you. So parents put something bright colored and reflective on your children that drivers may easily see. It may be a good idea to go with your children and before letting your children eat any of their candy or fruit please check it very carefully. Some people have sick senses of humor, so protect your children this Halloween.

Fire loss $300,000 in lumber yard

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The owner of the Starr Lumber and Mill Work Co. estimated a fire at his east Toledo yard early Wednesday will cost him $300,000.

Rains shift to mid-U.S.

Heavy thundershowers over western Texas and parts of New Mexico diminished today, ending the threat of flash flooding in several areas.

Persistent rains shifted into portions of Oklahoma, Kansas, Utah and Idaho, while scattered showers drifted into Missouri, southern Illinois, southern Indiana and Kentucky.

Small isolated areas of showers also dampened southeast Ohio, northern West Virginia and southern Florida.

Skies were generally clear over the central and eastern Gulf Coast states. Fair skies extended from the northern Plains to the Northeast. Patches of dense fog set in over the northern portion of the Ohio Valley.

Lions, Tigers in key battle

BY LARRY WATTS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

At the beginning of the season, Lion coach Maurice Pfeifer predicted Circleville and Miami Trace to be the two strongest teams in the league. After watching the films of the Circleville-Miami Trace game, Pfeifer has now taken his prediction one step further and stated that the Tigers and Panthers are the two toughest teams on Washington's schedule this season.

Circleville, which is 5-2 for the season and 3-1 in the South Central Ohio League, will be visiting the Lions this Friday. With their one loss in league play, the Tigers face possible elimination from the title picture. Washington stands at 6-1 for the year and 3-0 in the SCOL.

"I thought the game between Circleville and Miami Trace was the championship match for the season," Pfeifer pointed out. "Although Circleville won the game, it appeared as though the Panthers out-played them."

"The Tigers run basic plays, execute well and possess outstanding team quickness," Pfeifer added. "They got off to a slow start but have continued to mature each week. Their loss to Greenfield still puzzles me."

Pfeifer said that the left side of the offensive line has made Circleville's attack devastating. The Washington coach was referring to split end Doug Palm, All-SCOL tackle Scott Bowman, guard Brian Price and center Tom Strawser.

Tailback Biff Bumgarner has turned the offensive production around in the past few games. Bumgarner, who is 5-foot 10 and weighs 180 pounds, has carried the ball 126 times for 746 yards and an average of nearly six yards per carry. In the last three games, the Tiger tailback has gained 236, 140 and 157 yards.

"Keying Bumgarner's success has been the blocking of fullback Pat McNaughton, who I also consider a very good runner," remarked Pfeifer. "McNaughton has gathered 410 yards in 75 carries."

Circleville also possess the game-breaker in wingback Rick Sampsill. Against Wilmington, Sampsill ran step for step with Jackie Watson, who is considered by many to be the fastest runner in the league. In the Unioto game, Sampsill only carried the ball twice, but he picked up 73 yards and a touchdown each time. He has now collected 246 yards in just 23 carries, which is over a 10-yard average per carry.

"Their offensive unit is the best we will face to date," Pfeifer stated. "The big secret of the game rests in the quickness of their offense against the quickness of our defense. Their attack is well-balanced and I think coach Larry Cook uses his players to the best of their ability."

With last week's astonishing performance in holding Bishop Wehrle to a total of minus 62 yards for the game, the Lions' defense should be ready for the Tigers. Washington's defense will be yielding an average of nearly 11 pounds per player to the offense of Circleville.

"Our defense was so impressive because the Wolverines' offense was ineffective," replied Pfeifer. "Wehrle's offense was only able to penetrate to our 41-yard line during the course of the contest. Because they turned the ball over deep in their own territory, we were only able to accumulate 217 total yards on offense. We had the ball 10 times and scored on six occasions."

Washington's offensive unit will also be at a weight disadvantage. The Lions will be giving up an average of over six pounds per player to the Tigers' defense.

"We plan to run the same type of offense against Circleville," Pfeifer pointed out. "The Tigers' defense looks very sound and they have some good athletes on the unit."

"Offensively, we will have to run the football, which is something we have yet to do this year," Pfeifer noted. "Their type of attack will try to grind it out and run over us because of our lack of size. Our offense will just have to keep control of the football in order to keep them from doing this to us."

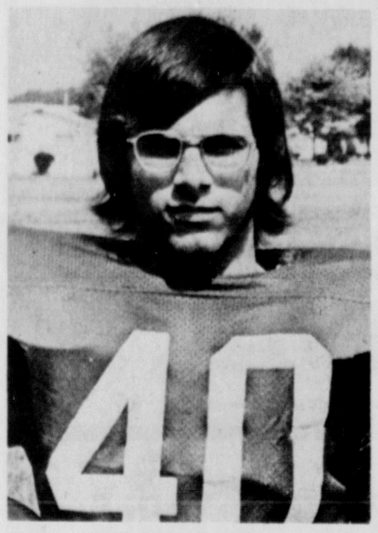

Both tailback Leroy Wilson and tight end David Thompson will be back in the lineup for the Lions. Wilson, who leads the Lions in rushing with 303 yards, suffered a knee injury against Wilmington. Thompson severely bruised his thigh in the same game.

Only an offensive back and defenisve lineman were selected as the players of the week. The entire offensive line played exceptional and it was impossible to select just one player. The defensive line did all of the tackling against Wehrle, so there was not a selection for defensive back of the week.

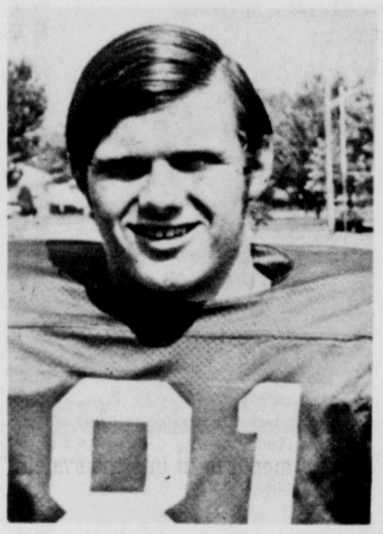

Randy Gardner was chosen as the offensive back of the week. In filling in for Wilson, Gardner scored two touchdowns and picked up 70 yards in nine carries.

Defensive lineman of the week was defensive end Tim O'Flynn. O'Flynn is 6-foot-1 and weighs 188 pounds.

"This is an emotionally-packed game for us," reported Pfeifer. "Our games have usually been defensive battles. This year the Tigers bring with them nine returning starters on offense and seven returnees on defense."

Five new computer leaders

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — New Philadelphia has scrambled back into a Class AAA regional lead this week in the Ohio High School Athletic Association computerized football ratings.

New Philadelphia, with seven successive victories, earned 75.16 points to replace Canton McKinley, also 7-0-0, as the Region 3 pacesetter.

Despite a victory over Dayton Roth, McKinley fell to fifth place in its region.

The ratings are based solely on victories and losses and a team's schedule strength. The OHSAA uses them to determine its semifinalists for the postseason playoffs.

The Class AA ratings had the biggest shakeup, with new leaders in three of the four regions. Only Norwalk kept its top billing.

Fayette County teams, Miami Trace and Washington Court House, were the only members of the South Central Ohio League to advance in this week's computer polls. The Panthers moved from 23rd to 18th in Region 4 of Class AAA. The Lions have climbed into 11th place in Region 8 of Class AA. Court House was 13th last week.

The remaining members of the SCOL dropped in their respective regions. Wilmington fell from 47th to 52 in Region 4. In Region 8, Greenfield dropped from 10th to 12th. Circleville fell from 12th to 14th and Hillsboro went from 40th to 42nd. Class A Unioto dropped from 18th to 20th in Region 12.

Tournament pairings announced by NCAA

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association has announced firstround pairings for its Division I basketball championship and may select 13 at-large teams to complete a 32-team bracket.

If 13 at-large clubs are selected instead of nine as in the past, there will be 16 firstround games, Tom Scott, chairman of the NCAA Tournament Committee, said Wednesday in announcing the pairings.

Whether 13 at-large teams are picked will depend on the quality of the available clubs.

Automatically qualifying for the tournament will be 15 conference champions from the East Coast, Atlantic Coast, Southern, Ivy Group, MidAmerican, Southeastern, Big Ten, Ohio Valley, Southwest, Missouri Valley, Big Eight, Western Athletic, West Coast Athletic, Pacific-8 and Big Sky.

The other four teams will be champions from the four Eastern College Athletic Conference regional tournaments. They also qualify automatically and are bracketed as at-large entrants.

First-round games will be played March 15, regional games March 20 and 22 and the semifinal and final games on March 29 and 31 at San Diego, Calif.

The first-round pairings:

At the Palestra in Philadelphia — The East Coast and Ivy Group champions against at-large teams with Pennsylvania as host. At Charlotte, N.C. — Atlantic Coast and Southern Conference champions against at-large selections with Davidson College as host. The four winners will advance to the East Regional at the Civic Center in Providence, R.I.

At Alabama — Mid-American and Southeastern Conference champions against at-large teams. At Kentucky — Big Ten and Ohio Valley Conference champions against at-large teams. Winners will play in the Mideast Regional at the University of Dayton.

At Texas Tech — Southwest Conference champion and three at-large teams. At Oral Roberts University, Tulsa, Okla. — Missouri Valley and Big Eight Conference champions against at-large teams. Winners will play in the Midwest Regional at New Mexico State.

At Arizona State University — Western Athletic and West Coast Athletic Conferences against at-large selections. At Washington State — Pacific-8 and Big Sky Conference champions against at-large teams. Winners will meet in the West Regional at Memorial Coliseum at Portland, Ore.

Tourney rescheduled

Due to the bad weather last Sunday, the scramble tournament had to be cancelled at the Washington Country Club. The tournament has been rescheduled for this Sunday and anyone interested in playing must sign up by noon, Sunday.

Hawaiians blast Chicago, 60-17

After grabbing three touchdown passes during the World Football League scoring explosion by the Hawaiians, John Isenbarger made a startling disclosure. He enjoys running and catching the ball.

Randy Johnson threw for four touchdowns Wednesday night to lead the Hawaiians to a 60-17 victory in Chicago against the hapless Fire.

"I like playing wide receiver and catching the ball," said Isenbarger after the game. "The passes were right on target."

In the other WFL games Wednesday night, Florida beat Charlotte 15-11, Shreveport blanked Birmingham 31-0 and Philadelphia topped Southern California 45-7. Tonight, it's Memphis at Portland in the the league's nationally televised contest.

A five year veteran who began the season with the National Football League's San Francisco 49ers, Isenbarger caught 10 passes for 135 yards — scoring on aerial plays of 28, 8 and 7 yards.

Johnson, a quarterback jumper from the NFL's New York Giants, completed 22 of 29 passes for 304 yards against Chicago before leaving the runaway contest midway in the third quarter.

Coach Mike Giddings of the Hawaiians got revenge for an earlier 53-29 loss to Chicago by handing the Fire its eighth straight defeat.

Leading 46-10, the Hawaiians made an onsides kick, recovered the ball and scored another touchdown just five plays later.

It was all downhill for the 20,203 Chicago spectators after a spectacular 52-yard field goal by Allan Watson gave the Fire a brief 10-8 edge against the Hawaiians in the opening period.

The Hawaiians and Fire are both 7-10 with three games remaining.

Blazers 15, Hornets 11

With Florida's Tommy Reamon rushing 35 times for a total of 189 yards, the Blazers triumphed on a pair of secondhalf scoring passes from Bob Davis to Greg Latta — 19 yards — and Jim Strong — eight yards.

The Blazers, 12-5, boosted their WFL Eastern Division lead over the runnerup Hornets, 10-7, before 23,613 spectators in Charlotte.

Steamer 31, Americans 0

Shreveport, 6-10-1, upset Birmingham, 12-5, by gaining a total of 529 yards — 326 rushing and 203 passing — and keeping the ball for 20 minutes in the first half and another 20 in the second half.

Shreveport's Jim Nance, who scored on an eight-yard plunge for the first touchdown, rushed for 126 yards to join J.J. Jennings of Memphis and Reamon of Florida in the WFL's 1,000-yard Club.

Bell 45, Sun 7

Quarterback King Corcoran fired three touchdown passes and scored on a one-yard dive to give Philadelphia, 7-10, an upset against Southern California, 12-5, already the WFL's Western Division champion.

Corcoran, who hit on 13 of 26 passes for 174 yards, threw scoring tosses of 32 yards to Don Shanklin, 25 yards to Ron Holliday and 10 yards to Claude Watts.

Philadelphia's John Land became the fourth WFL running back to gain more than 1,000 yards. He rushed for 84 yards in 18 carries for a total of 1,001 this season.

Redskins to beat Cards

By BEN THOMAS
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Okay, class. It's time for a history lesson.

Ages ago, even before the time of Pete Rozelle and the National Football League, somebody dreamed up the saying "history repeats itself."

So let's take a look a history and see if you can figure out the outcome of Sunday's game in the NFL between the St. Louis Cardinals, the only unbeaten team after six weeks of play, and the Washington Redskins.

The Cardinals upset the favored Redskins 17-10 five weeks ago, but since George Allen became Washington's coach in 1971, the Redskins have never lost both regular season games to another team in the National Conference East.

So you can see that history will repeat itself regardless of the outcome. The catch is to figure out the specific part of history that's going to be repeated.

Now that the lesson is over, let's pause to report that the old Pro Pigskin Picker has finally gotten above 70 per cent for the season because of a 10-3 showing last week. That makes it 54-23-1 over-all for .701.

And here's the homework assignment:

WASHINGTON (4-2) at ST. LOUIS (6-0): Speaking of teaching and sayings, you know what experience is best at. So, with that in mind, let's figure that the experience that Sonny Jurgensen, Billy Kilmer and Washington's Over-The-Hill Gang have, will pay off ... REDSKINS 23, CARDINALS 20.

NEW ENGLAND (5-1) at MINNESOTA (5-1): The Vikings have had their letdown for the first half of the season. . . VIKINGS 24, PATRIOTS 17.

CHICAGO (3-3) at BUFFALO (5-1): The Bills can take over first place in the American Conference East with a victory over the Bears and some help from the Vikings ... BILLS 20, BEARS 13.

OAKLAND (5-1) at SAN FRANCISCO (2-4): The Raiders have won five straight, the 49ers have lost five straight. After Sunday, it should be six and six ... RAIDERS 34, 49ERS 13.

LOS ANGELES (4-2) at NEW YORK JETS (1-5): The last time James Harris, the new LA quarterback, visited Shea Stadium was his first start in the NFL. That was as a rookie in 1969 for the then-hapless Buffalo Bills. The score was 33-19, which could be the score this time, too ... RAMS 33, JETS 19.

BALTIMORE (1-5) at MIAMI (4-2): Wonder why Miami is favored by 15 points? Anyway ... DOLPHINS 28, COLTS 13.

PHILADELPHIA (4-2) at NEW ORLEANS (2-4): If the Saints could just play Atlanta every time they might be unbeaten this year, but the Eagle is a bigger bird than the Falcon ... EAGLES 24, SAINTS 17.

HOUSTON (1-5) at CINCINNATI (4-2): Somebody recently described the Oilers as an accident about to happen. But the Bengals will win by design, not accident ... BENGALS 26, OILERS 13.

DENVER (3-2-1) at CLEVELAND (1-5): The Bronco's Floyd Little is starting to hit his stride, so Denver now has a cavalry attack plus the artillery from Charley Johnson and Steve Ramsey ... BRONCOS 24, BROWNS 13.

GREEN BAY (3-3) at DETROIT (2-4): Now that the Lions have found out how to roar, winning could get contagious at Detroit ... LIONS 24, PACKERS 13.

DALLAS (2-4) vs. NEW YORK GIANTS (1-5) at New Haven, Conn.: This could be the place to pick an upset, if the Giants hadn't done it when the two clubs met earlier ... COWBOYS 24, GIANTS 16.

KANSAS CITY (2-4) at SAN DIEGO (1-5): Not too long ago the Chiefs would have been a prohibitive favorite. Now it's just three points. Guess the oddsmakers haven't given up on Jan Stenerud's toe, but we have ... CHARGERS 17, CHIEFS 15.

ATLANTA (2-4) at PITTSBURGH (4-1-1): Sherman set Atlanta aflame more than 100 years ago. This time — in the Monday night game — Pittsburgh will be fired up ... STEELERS 35, FALCONS 22.

Top players selected by Sporting News

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Base-stealing king Lou Brock and slugger Jeff Burroughs have been named the 1974 major league players of the year in a poll conducted by the Sporting News.

The national publication has also selected Mike Marshall and Catfish Hunter as 1974's top major league pitchers.

The selections, the result of a poll among 394 major league players, were announced Wednesday by the newspaper.

The 35-year-old Brock, who stole a record 118 bases for the St. Louis Cardinals during 1974, also hit .306 and scored 105 runs in winning National League Player of the Year honors.

Burroughs, 23, led the American League with 118 runs batted in and batted .301 for the Texas Rangers to take top player laurels in the AL.

Brock and Burroughs are both outfielders.

Marshall, a right-handed reliever who came to the Los Angeles Dodgers last winter from the Montreal Expos, appeared in a record 106 games, winning 15 and saving 21. The 31-year-old fireman is the first relief specialist ever named the NL's top pitcher by the Sporting News.

Hunter, already a 10-year veteran at 28, won 25 games for the World Champion Oakland Athletics in 1974. It was the fourth straight 20-game season for the right-hander, who also turned in a 2.49 earned run average in winning American League Pitcher of the Year honors.

Phoenix topples Detroit

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

Protest? Why? Ray Scott was just as happy he didn't have to watch the fourth quarter.

Coach Scott's torpid Detroit Pistons, usually explosive on offense with Dave Bing and Bob Lanier, went for more than four minutes in the second quarter without scoring, and Phoenix wound up winning the National Basketball Association contest 100-90.

Again in the third period, the Pistons suffered through three minutes without a point, allowing Phoenix to build up a 78-62 lead going into the final set.

That apparently was enough for Scott.

Toward the end of the third quarter, he drew his second technical for deploying the Pistons in a zone defense and was ejected.

"I don't know why we were picked out for this so early in the season. I see modified zones all the time," Scott said.

"But the way the game was played, I didn't protest."

In other NBA games, Cleveland edged Boston 108-107, Washington beat Houston 99-95, Seattle dropped Portland 107-97, and Kansas City-Omaha got by Chicago 99-98.

Charlie Scott got 23 points for the Suns and Curtis Perry added 18 before fouling out with about six minutes to play. Lanier had 24 points for Detroit and Bing had 17.

Austin Carr was responsible to a great extent for the Cleveland's squeaker over defending NBA champion Celtics, scoring 16 points in an 18-point Cleveland surge in the second half after Boston had drawn to within a point at 66-65.

Carr wound up with 28 points, and John Havlicek led Boston with 22.

Undefeated Washington got a boost from Phil Chenier in his first start of the season as he scored 27 points. He has had back trouble.

Jimmy Jones, who signed Wednesday with the Capitals after leaving the Salt Lake Stars of the American Basketball Association, played two minutes and said, "I've been in this situation before, being traded about a month after training camp, and it took about a month to fit into the system."

Guard Fred Brown scored 11 of his 16 points in the final three minutes to give the Sonics their victory. Sonics' rookie center Tom Burleson sparked a second-quarter rally when he stole the ball at Portland's end of the court and took it alone for a stuff shot, then scored two more quick buckets to tighten the score at 39-32.

Archie Clark had 19 points for the Sonics. Portland's Geoff Petrie had 24, and Bill Walton scored 15 with 17 rebounds.

Nate Williams' 18-foot jumper with six seconds left capped a Kings' rally that saw them come back from a 98-89 deficit. Nate Archibald led the Kings with 24 points, and Chet Walker had 24 for the Bulls.

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Moonlight Storm won the $5,000 featured pace mile by a neck at Lebanon Raceway Wednesday night.

The winner ran the distance in 2:05 1-5 and paid $12.20, $5.20 and $4.60.

Spooky Smith, passed in the stretch, placed to pay $14.20 and $8.40. O.K. Miss was third for $11.40.

Craig Fancy and Chita Ron, 5-3, paid $21.40 in the daily double.

Attendance was 1,343 and the handle totaled $115,801.

Defense lawyers hammer at Dean

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Mitchell's defense lawyer in the Watergate cover-up trial focused today on differences between John Dean's trial testimony and what Dean told the Senate Watergate committee 16 months ago.

William G. Hundley reminded Dean that he had testified at the trial about a long telephone conversation he had with Mitchell on June 22, 1972, in which he reported on the progress of the FBI investigation of the Watergate break-in.

In his second day of cross-examining Dean, Hundley noted that Dean never mentioned the Mitchell conversation in his Watergate committee testimony. Mitchell is a former attorney general and is one of five defendants in the trial.

Hundley also pointed out that Dean never mentioned the conversation to a federal grand jury.

Asked by Hundley to explain, Dean said, "The first time I was asked about that was in this courtroom."

Hundley then turned to another conversation Dean had testified he had with Mitchell.

At the trial, Dean said he talked to Mitchell on the telephone on June 28, 1972.

Hundley reminded Dean that he had told the Watergate committee his conversation with Mitchell on the 28th was at a meeting and not on the telephone.

Mitchell later had told the committee he was out of town that day.

Dean said he subsequently recalled that he attended a meeting in Mitchell's office on June 28 but that Mitchell wasn't there and that he had called him later when the former attorney general returned to Washington.

In his cross-examination of Dean on Wednesday, Hundley sought to portray the former White House counsel as ready to sacrifice anyone to save his own skin when the Watergate cover-up began unraveling.

"John Mitchell never asked you to bite the bullet for him," Hundley said to Dean during cross-examination on Wednesday.

Hundley tried to get Dean to admit that he had tried to get Mitchell to step forward to take responsibility for the Watergate break-in.

"You didn't have any information that Mr. Mitchell was responsible for the bugging," Hundley told the former White House counsel. "Yet you joined in a plan to have him step forward because that would save you."

Hundley was the second defense lawyer to cross-examine Dean, the leadoff government witness in the trial of five former Nixon administration and campaign aides accused of conspiring to block the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

John J. Wilson, lawyer for H.R. Haldeman, former White House staff chief, led off the cross-examination and had Dean relate how he took $4,850 for his honeymoon from a $350,000 cash fund kept by Haldeman in the White House.

"Didn't it lay on your conscience at all that you spent money that didn't belong to you?" Wilson asked.

"I was prepared to account for it at any time I was asked to," replied Dean.

"Now listen, Mr. Wilson, you know me, you've known me for years," the judge replied, pointing his finger at the short, balding lawyer. "I'm as much interested in getting the truth out as you are."

At issue was whether tapes of conversations about which Dean's memory was unclear would be played for the jury.

The White House conversations referred to took place on Feb. 27, 28 and March 13, 1973.

The prosecutors agreed to play the tapes. But after a bench conference later in the day, it was decided that playing them would be put off for some time, if not indefinitely.

Part of the procedure for introducing tapes as evidence at the trial is that a participant in the conversation or someone accepted as authoritative can identify the voices and relate the substance of the discussion. Dean has been used for that so far.

Symposiarch officers set

Candidates for president, vice president and secretary-treasurer were announced by Harris Willis, chairman of the nominating at the Symposiarch chapter meeting Wednesday night.

It has long been the chapter policy to advance the vice president to the vice presidency; so Dr. Charles M. Pfersick is unopposed for the top office next year. The other candidates are Dr. Donald E. Mossbarger and Richard Arnott for vice president and Richard Patton and Dr. Warren Craig for secretary-treasurer. The election will be held at the November meeting.

Following dinner at the Country Club, Dr. J.H. Persinger spoke on advances being made in medical science, particularly in the field of diabetes. He prefaced his more serious talk with several humorous stories.

Hosts for the dinner were Edward C. Vollette, Otis R. Hess, Mark Schaeper and Birch Rice.

Firemen respond to two blazes

The Washington C.H. Fire Department responded to two fires Wednesday, one of which was at the home of Washington C.H. Fireman, Jay Smith.

Fireman Smith's residence at 429 Broadway, incurred an estimated $3,000 damage when fire broke out at 10:55 a.m. Wednesday. The fire department extinguished the blaze with water and reported heavy smoke damage throughout the house.

Fireman Smith's wife, Sandy, was reportedly home at the time, but was uninjured.

At 3:53 p.m. Wednesday, firemen were summoned to extinguished a pile of burning leaves in the 600 block of Washington Avenue, which children had allegedly set on fire.

There was no damage.

Project announced in Columbus

Deer Creek lodge plans to be made

By SANDY FOSSON
Record-Herald Staff Writer

COLUMBUS — The Ohio Department of Natural Resources took another step forward today in paving the way toward full facility recreation developments in the Washington C.H. area.

Director William B. Nye and Ohio Representative Myrl H. Shoemaker announced the plans in Columbus Thursday morning to begin conception of year-round vacation lodges and cabins at Deer Creek and West Branch state parks.

TWO ARCHITECTURAL firms in Columbus, Phillip Markwood Architects, Inc. and Acock, White and Associates, Inc., were selected to prepare conceptual designs for the Deer Creek facility, which would serve central and southwestern Ohio.

The Deer Creek state park is located 30 miles southwest of Columbus in Pickaway and Fayette counties. The 7,006-acre park just recently began accepting reservations for rental of the "Harding Cabin," which was formerly the summer home of Harry M. Daugherty, a Washington C.H. native who was U.S. Attorney General under President Warren G. Harding.

The cabin, on the east side of the lake near the park office, was said to be a secluded gathering place for friends and supporters of Harding.

The project will include selecting a site at the park for a lodge and overnight vacation cabins and determining the size of the complex and what types of service facilities, such as water and sewage treatment, will be necessary.

the size of the lodge may range from 90 to 120 rooms with approximately 55-60 people expected to be employed after completion. Nye could not say exactly how much the project would cost overall but revealed that the last two major lodges were completed at a cost of $10.3 million for Salt Fork State Park and $7 million for Mohican State Park.

The West Branch state park is located in Portage County near the urban areas of Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown and Canton. The Cleveland firm of Dalton, VanDijk, Johnson and Partners will make the study at the West Branch park.

According to Nye, the target date for completion of the design plans is three to four months. The facilities are being planned for construction in 1975, provided approval by the state controlling board for releasing funds for the design work and the legislature for revenue bond authority, with completion expected in 1976.

Nye anticipates the two lodges "would be very successful during the summer recreational season and as a conference and convention facility during the wintertime."

Nye said the projects were developed after a recent citizens survey depicted high public demand for additional outdoor facilities in and near urban areas.

The new lodges at Deer Creek and West Branch will be the seventh and eighth overnight lodges in the state parks system. Others are located at the Burr Oak, Hueston Woods, Punderson, Salt Fork, Shawnee and Mohican state parks.

PLANS ANNOUNCED — Department of Natural Resources director William B. Nye and Ohio Representative Myrl H. Shoemaker (seated) announced plans for two new vacation lodges at Deer Creek and West Branch state parks. Attending the conférence from Washington C.H. were standing from left, Bruce Galloway, Jim Ward and Laurence A. (Bucky) Dumford.

ACCORDING to Shoemaker, the Deer Creek facility, whick is in his 88th House District, is "within 50 miles of Columbus, Dayton, Springfield and Chillicothe, and is less than an hour's drive from more than two million Ohioans." Shoemaker said he expected the controlling board to approve funds for design work Monday.

A third similar project planned for Kelly's Island state park has been delayed because of numerous local objections to the master plan. "They do want a park development there but not according to our plan. They don't like the idea of forced sales," Nye said.

Nye said the new facilities probably would be financed with revenue bonds, which are retired with revenue produced by the operation of the facilities. Other financing alternatives would be either general obligation bonds or direct payment.

Nye noted that normal maintenance of access roads to the parks would be worked out in a type of "maintenance-assistance agreements" with the county and would vary among lodges and locations.

Attending the press conference from Washington C.H. were Laurence (Bucky) Dumford, candidate for 77th District Ohio House of Representatives, Bruce Galloway, president, and Jim Ward, of the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce.

Quick drop, speedy rise seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation is headed toward a recession and the Ford administration might as well admit it, says an administration economics adviser.

"Let's call a spade a spade," said Paul W. McCracken in a telephone interview Wednesday. "I think we are probably in the early stages of what could turn out to be a V type recession."

That means a recession which is sharp but brief and looks like a "V" on a graph, in contrast to prolonged declines in economic activity, McCracken explained. He indicated he thought the worst would be over by mid-1975.

McCracken said unemployment could approach 7 per cent and the decline in economic output about 4 per cent next year. Another administration economic adviser, L. William Seidman, said his best guess on unemployment would be about 6.5 per cent.

McCracken, a former chairman of former President Richard M. Nixon's Council of Economic Advisers, now serves as a part-time consultant to Treasury Secretary William E. Simon. He also recently was named by President Ford to help compile his new economic program after the economic summit meetings.

While McCracken said it was a moot point to argue whether the economy is in a recession, as President Ford has claimed it is not, "my judgment is that we're probably moving into one."

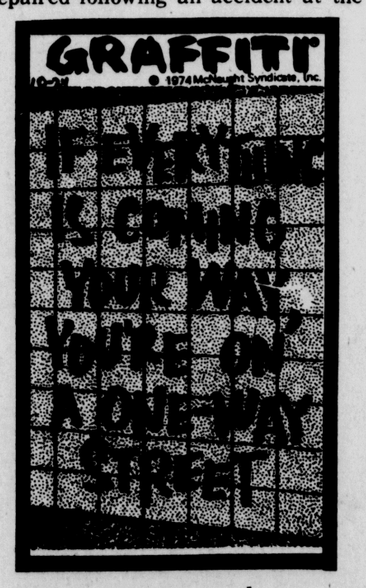

McCracken, a professor of economics at the University of Michigan, does not rank as an official administration spokesman, and the administration continues to shy away from describing the current economic condition as a recession.

Seidman said in a separate meeting with newsmen Wednesday that it is hard to put a label on the economy at the present time. For some industries, such as furniture and steel, he said there is no recession. For housing, he said there is a deep recession.

"Inflation certainly is the No. 1 enemy, but stagflation is right behind it," said Seidman. "It's better to say we have two problems."

Gas, water lines repaired after bulldozer accident

Normal water service has been restored and a broken gas line has been repaired following an accident at the Kroger Co. construction site on Clinton Avenue Wednesday afternoon.

A bulldozer operator, employed by the K and S Construction Co., of Columbus, which is erecting the new Kroger Co. complex, accidentally struck a two-inch gas line and a six-inch water main while grading in an area between Don's Auto Sales, 518 Clinton Ave., and the Super Par service station on W. Court Street.

The accident, in which gas spewed into the air and water oozed up into the streets, occurred shortly after 4 p.m. Wednesday.

The bulldozer operator was removing old sidewalks and curbing from the area to permit the eventual construction of a third traffic lane along Clinton Avenue.

EVERITT ROBBINS, manager of the Ohio Water Service Co., office in Washington C.H., said approximately three dozen area water customers were without service for nearly an hour

Jury selection completed in Kent State shootings

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A jury of eight men and four women was seated today in the trial of eight former Ohio National Guardsmen indicted in the 1970 Kent State shootings.

The jury was seated after pre-emptory challenges by the prosecution and defense rejected 16 prospective jurors. Judge Frank J. Battisti had dismissed several others on the basis of their answers to his questions, usually because they said they already had reached a conclusion or had some feelings about the case.

Martin Planisek of Maple Heights, who works for the school system; Albert Cantale of Bedford Heights, production foreman in an industrial plant; Thomas Hallauer of Elyria, a heating engineer at Oberlin College; Jean Messenger, a Shaker Heights housewife; Jane Bietz, a Lakewood widow; David H. Clingan of Shelby, assistant general manager of an industrial supply company; and Donald J. Braidich, a Euclid electrian.

The defense used its full allottment of 10 pre-emptory challenges, and the prosecution used all of its six.

Rezoning ordinance approved

Council holds 17-minute session

Washington C.H. City Council zipped through a wafer-thin agenda to record one of its shortest regular meetings ever Wednesday night.

In the only matter of business before City Council members during the abbreviated meeting which lasted a mere 17 minutes, a rezoning ordinance was unanimously approved as an emergency measure.

THE REZONING ordinance was the only piece of legislation appearing on the agenda and a portion of the 17-minute session was absorbed by routine matters such as the call to order, roll call, invocation, pledge of allegiance, approval of minutes and the time given to voters and taxpayers to address Council.

Even City Manager Dan Wolford's semi-monthly report to City Council was empty. However, the length of the meeting was stretched a bit when three matters were aired during "Call to Council."

An ordinance requesting the rezoning of a tract of land near the intersection of Clinton and Fairview avenues to permit the construction of a proposed office complex was deemed an emergency on a motion by Council member Hugh S. (Bud) Patton and read by title only. The ordinance received unanimous approval.

The rezoning of the 0.42-acre tract of land, situated on the south side of Clinton Avenue, from R-2 to B-1 restricted had been requested by Washington C.H. real estate developer Robert E. Lewis.

Construction of three modern colonial style office buildings has been proposed on the tract of land in the city's Elmwood Addition.

Just prior to the 7:47 p.m. adjournment, City Council chairman John E. Rhoads stated that the city "is not trading a reduction of real estate taxes for the income tax. Instead of a trade we're acting in good faith contrary to what people are asserting," he said.

COUNCIL MEMBER Ralph Cook requested the city manager to contact the Ohio Department of Transportation regarding the progress of a proposal for a U.S. 22 bypass around Washington C.H. The bypass proposal, which was submitted to the city more than 10 years ago, would further reduce truck traffic here.

According to plans in the City Office Building, the proposed bypass would begin near the Stuckey Road, just east of the city, continue northeast behind the Washington Square Shopping Center, cross Columbus Avenue, continue around to Ohio 41-N, just south of Halliday's curve, wind around to intersect with the U.S. 35 bypass and connect with CCC the Highway, west of the city.

Following a suggestion by Council member Billie Wilson, safety committee members Mrs. Bertha McCullough and Donald E. Wood will meet with Paul Lipschutz to consider plans for seven off-street parking spaces on S. Fayette Street at a lot located between Nichol's Mens store and an alley.

Ohio retail sales increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Major Ohio cities have fared well in retail sales so far this year, with the eight largest showing increases of up to 13 per cent from a year ago, the Center for Business and Economic Research at Ohio State University reports.

The increases appear to be part of an upward pattern, and range from 3 per cent in Columbus to 13 per cent in Akron, center data indicates. Sales increased 5 per cent in Akron and Cleveland, 4 per cent in Dayton, 7 per cent in Cincinnati, 6 per cent in Toledo and 9 per cent in Youngstown.

Twenty of 25 kinds of Ohio retail businesses surveyed recorded sales above 1973 levels for July, with paint and wallpaper stores leading the way at 23 per cent.

The center said aside from lines which had significant price increases such as hayfeed, farm supply stores, fuel dealers and filling stations, florists and general stores were next at 18 per cent. Appliance and hardware stores were up 17 per cent from sales a year ago.

Personal income in Ohio increased just over 11 per cent from 1972 to 1973, keeping Ohio in fifth place in total personal income nationwide, the center said.

Per capita income also increased 11 per cent, ranking Ohio 20th among the 50 states and the District of Columbia.

The ranking was a drop of four places from 1972, due in large part to the dramatic jump in income in farm states according to U.S. Commerce Department figures.

In 1972, none of the seven plains states surpassed Ohio in average personal income, but five of the seven moved ahead of Ohio in 1973.

A LONG WAY DOWN — Onlookers stand on the bridge at the Ohio 41 and Washington New Martinsburg Road intersection and peer down at the overturned car driven by Timothy J. Glover, 24, of Chillicothe. Glover failed to negotiate a right curve at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, crashed into a guardrail and then the end of the bridge. His car become airborne for 72 feet and landed upside-down at the bottom of the creek. He was pinned in the wreckage for 15 minutes and is presently listed in satisfactory condition at University Hospital in Columbus. Pictured are Fayette County Sheriff's Deputy Don Cox, who investigated the accident (middle), and Sheriff's Sgt. John Emrick (right) and deputy-dispatcher Gary Sword (left), who assisted in the investigation.

Two drivers escape death in spectacular accidents

Two serious traffic accidents, which resulted in injury to both drivers involved — one is presently in a Columbus hospital in satisfactory condition — were reported by the Fayette County Sheriff's Department Wednesday.

The worst of the two accidents occurred at 8:30 p.m., when a car driven north on Ohio 41-S at the Washington-New Martinsburg Road intersection, by Timothy J. Glover, 24, Chillicothe, went out of control on the right curve in that area.

Glover's auto traveled left of center and struck the guardrail, traveled 54 feet and collided with the bridge and then became airborne for 72 feet as the car sailed over the bridge and down to the creek bed, where it landed upside down after striking a fence post owned by Jean and Jay Fannin of Ohio 41-S, during its descent.

GLOVER WAS pinned and unconscious in the wreckage when Fayette County Sheriff's Deputy Don Cox arrived on the scene. Gerstner-Kinzer ambulance service was contacted and Terry Summers, who is a full-time dispatcher at the Sheriff's Department and a part-time ambulance attendant with Gerstner-Kinzer's, worked with Deputy Cox to free Glover. Summers crawled through the shattered back window and managed to free Glover, while Deputy Cox forced open the smashed driver's door with a crow-bar. Summers and full-time ambulance attendent, Tom Weaver, were then able to remove Glover from the wreckage on a body-board. Glover started to regain consciousness at this time.

He sustained multiple lacerations on the left side of his face, a large scalp laceration and suffered back pain. He was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital and then transferred to University Hospital in Columbus, where he is reported in satisfactory condition.

The second accident occurred at 3 p.m. Wednesday, when a car driven by Patsy A. Darling, 41, of 1542 N. North St., was struck in the rear by a semi driven by William G. Peters Jr., 26, of Clifton Forge, Va.

Mrs. Darling was attempting to turn left off U.S. 35 onto Bloomingburg-New Holland Road, when Peters attempted to pass her.

Impact from the collision propelled the Darling auto off the road and into a fence and field owned by Alford M. Carr, 2649 Bloomingburg-New Holland Road, where it overturned on its top.

Mrs. Darling was taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital by Gerstner-Kinzer ambulance service, where she was treated for a scalp laceration and released.

Peters was charged by sheriff's deputies for passing at an intersection. His truck was slightly damaged in the mishap, while the Darling auto was demolished.

Sheriff's deputies investigated a third accident Wednesday and Washington C.H. police reported four accidents, two of which were hit-skip mishaps.

A car driven by Carl M. Snell, 31, of 406 E. Temple St., slid through the stop sign at the intersection of Rowe-Ging and Armbrust roads at 12:45 p.m. Wednesday, sheriff's deputies reported.

HIS CAR went off the road and struck a fence owned by Harry Ging, Rt. 2 and a Dayton Power and Light Co. utility pole. Snell was unhurt in the accident.

An accident at the intersection of Market and Forrest streets at 6:55 p.m. Wednesday, involved cars driven by James R. Forsythe, 34, of 703 E. Paint St., and Denise E. Matthews, 19, of 1539 Chillicothe Rd.

Ms. Matthews was cited by Washington C.H. police for failure to yield right of way and both cars were severely damaged.

Forsythe claimed injury from the mishap, but was not treated.

A parking meter was slightly damaged by a car driven by George W. Van Dyke, 65, Jonesboro Road, while he was positioning his auto in a parking place on N. Fayette St., at 2:55 p.m. Wednesday, police reported.

Two hit-skip accidents are presently under investigation by the Washington C.H. Police Department. The first occurred at 3:10 p.m. Wednesday, when a car belonging to Leo R. Sanderson, 1319 Willard St., was moderately damaged while parked in the Washington Square Plaza, in front of Buckeye Mart. The second occurred at 11:45 p.m. Wednesday, when a car owned by Vienna Carson, 715 Columbus Ave., was struck by an unidentified driver in Frisch's parking lot on Clinton Avenue.

President takes campaign into heart of Midwest

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is venturing into America's breadbasket after signing legislation of intense interest to farmers that expands government regulation of the $500 billion-a-year commodities futures exchanges.

Aides said Ford planned to issue a statement today at Des Moines, Iowa, on the bill he signed into law six hours before the Wednesday midnight deadline.

The Iowa capital was the first stop in another day of campaigning for Republican candidates in Ford's effort to avoid what he calls "a vetoproof Congress."

From Des Moines he was heading for Melvin, Ill., and a fairgrounds celebration honoring retiring House GOP Whip Les Arends. After that, he scheduled appearances at two receptions and a Republican fund-raising dinner in Chicago.

The legislation signed by Ford Wednesday night establishes an independent agency topped by a five-member commission to oversee trading of futures contracts. It also brings under regulation contracts that are exempt from various laws but still are subject to the rules of the largely self-governing exchanges.

In commodity future trading, farmers and other producers sell goods for delivery at some future date at a guaranteed price which they think will give them a fair return.

Processors, exporters and other middlemen make the futures purchases, agreeing to prices on such commodities as soybeans, silver, corn, cattle, wheat, sugar and coffee. Speculators also participate in the market.

The commodities themselves seldom change hands, except on paper. But rather, they are exchanged in the interconnected cash market, where prices reflect futures trading.

following the accident. He said the customers affected were situated in area between Don's Auto Sales to Oakland Avenue including residents along Draper and Green streets.

Robbins said normal water service was restored about 9 p.m. Wednesday.

He said the operations at Pennington Bread, Inc., Clinton Avenue, and Avoset Co., Leesburg Ave., were not affected when the water service was lost temporarily.

Robbins, two other Ohio Water Service Co. employes and city street superintendent Bill Duncan were on the scene until about 9 p.m. Wednesday.

George Winkle, manager of the Dayton Power and Light Co. office here, said the gas line was struck had been abandoned by the utility company and no customers were affected. The gas line has been repaired, he said.

City inspector Glenn Tatman said while repairs were being completed the westbound lane of Clinton Avenue was blocked. Traffic was detoured around Leesburg Avenue and Draper Street.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices moved broadly lower for the third straight day today amid profit-taking and fear the country was entering a sharp recession.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was off 11.27 at 633.76. Losers swamped gainers, 1,004 to 158 among 1,484 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said comments by Paul W. McCracken, economic adviser to Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, that the country was entering a "sharp" recession from which it would not emerge before mid-1975 spurred today's falloff in prices, which already had begun for technical reasons after the previous runup.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index fell .68 to 67.91 as the most-active stock, Giant Yellowknife, a gold stock, advanced 1¼ to 13⅝.

Opinion And Comment

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . . By Marquis Childs

Energy, oil and prices

WASHINGTON — Giving with one hand and taking away with the other is the end result of the Ford war on inflation. The income tax will be eased for those in the low brackets, but they will pay more for the energy to light and heat their homes.

In the confusion of advice in the White House, the Nixon holdovers have been urging state regulatory agencies to move rapidly to grant utility rate increases. The dubious reason is that with greater revenues, light and power companies will increase investment in new facilities.

It is far more likely that dividends will jump as the rates go up. And as experience has shown, regardless of demand or a greatly increased supply, these rates never go down.

The burden is imposed on the householder into the indefinite future and economies such as keeping lights on in only one or two rooms will make little difference in his bill.

The same thing applies to the deregulation of natural gas recommended by President Ford in his speech on inflation. The end result will be to increase the cost of gas for home heating to twice or three times the present level. Whether any additional gas will be produced is highly doubtful since producers are reported currently operating full blast.

The General Accounting Office following a 10-month investigation accused the Federal Power Commission of improperly allowing a number of natural gas producers to raise prices to millions of their customers.

Rep. John E. Moss, D., Calif., called the report "one of the most powerful indictments of a federal regulatory agency within memory. Most of the nation's 40 million gas bills have been seriously and adversely affected by the irregularities revealed by the GAO and shown to be commonplace at the FPC."

The report charged that some officials of the commission had owned securities of the companies they regulated, with 19 officials directed to sell securities as a result of the investigation. The FPC entered a blanket denial of the charges.

In the Nixon years the regulatory agencies were stacked with men out of industry. They were supposed to do a turnabout and start regulating the very industries from which they had come.

In most cases they have long-term appointments so that if President Ford were inclined to reshape the regulatory bodies with consumer-oriented members or at least with regulators capable of objective judgment, he would be stymied.

In a remarkable speech, the chairman of one of these agencies spoke a few home truths the other day. Lewis A. Engman of the Federal Trade Commission told the Financial Analysts Federation meeting in Detroit:

"Most regulated industries have become federal protectorates, living in a world of cost-plus, safely protected from the ugly specters of competition, efficiency and innovation."

He urged that every regulation or regulatory policy contributing to inflation be re-examined. Earlier Engman had announced that the FTC would pursue a vigorous antitrust program as the most effective and important contribution to protect the consumer.

The rush for profits in the domestic oil industry matches the gouging of the Arabs. Of the roughly 16 million barrels a day consumed in this country 6 million is from domestic sources.

Of that total 40 per cent is rated as "new" oil, that is to say from new sources, and is therefore free of price control. It is bringing $11 a barrel, matching the quadrupled price of the Arab producers. As Arab spokesmen have noted, if you want to reduce prices why don't you take action at home?

In the muddle over energy, oil and prices, President Ford may count himself an innocent. At his press conference he said he was in favor of phasing out the oil-depletion allowance which is one of the biggest tax loopholes. His press secretary, Ron Nessen, said the following day that the President had meant to say that phasing out the allowance should be linked to removing all federal controls on oil prices.

Anyone who thinks that the bite on electricity, oil and gas will not count at the ballot box is living in a dream world.

Inflation fatal to family farm

NASHVILLE, Ill. (AH) — Like his father, Casimer Kozuszek worked all his life to leave something for his sons: the family dairy farm. But his sons won't have it. Inflation milked it dry.

"The feed is too high and milk wasn't high enough," 66-year-old Kozuszek says. "I sold out because my boys were supposed to take over but there wasn't enough money and I'm getting too old."

Kozuszek sold his herd of dairy cows at auction in September. He still lives on the farmland, but no longer as a farmer. His son, who would have run it, works in a factory.

His voice accented by traces of his ancestral Poland, Kozuszek talks in plain terms: dollars and cents.

"In 1950, '51 and '52, corn was 85 cents a bushel and milk was more than $6 a hundredweight. Now corn is $3.80 a bushel and milk is still only a little over $6."

When Kozuszek sold his herd, milk for cheese and other commercial products brought only $6.39, though this month the price reached $7.50.

"Everything else is too high," he says. "Two years ago baling wire was $9. This year $23. Seven years ago a tractor cost $9,000. Now the same tractor is $18,000."

The Agriculture Department predicts that by 1980 half the nation's family-run dairy farms will vanish, the herds auctioned to large producers.

The Kozuszek farm was never a big operation: 50 cows, 190 acres. But until recently, it was a living. Clarence Kozuszek, 21, wanted to take over.

"Yes, I would, if it would have been profitable," he says. "We weren't coming out ahead, you know. We were just paying for the bills and that's it."

Now Clarence earns $3.80 an hour on the night shift at a factory.

"It's a lot easier," he says. "There you work for what you get. On a dairy farm you work all day long and all night and you'll have nothing to show for it. You don't know what's going to happen from day to day. If you can't make a living on the farm you have to do something else."

The trouble with farming, as the Kozuszeks see it, is that farmers won't work together. "They are going to have to organize like everybody else, like union labor. If they don't they are going to go broke," says Casimer.

Circle Freeway section opened

The section connects U.S. 50 near River Downs Race Track with U.S. 27 (Colerain Road) in north-central Hamilton County north of Cincinnati.

Tuesday, a 1.6-mile stretch of Interstate 71 was opened in suburban Norwood bringing the interstate from Columbus nonstop to Dana Avenue in Cincinnati.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Fancy words for the same old story

DEAR ABBY: Chuck and I have been married for 20 years. I was 17 and he was 18 at the time, and we were very much in love. I still am, but I'm not so sure about Chuck.

Recently Chuck expressed the need for less togetherness and more freedom to explore and develop ourselves as individuals. We talked it out and he admitted that his basic need was sexual experimentation. Chuck says he doesn't want to deceive me, but his need has now become an obsession.

We have three children and everything to stay together for. Chuck suggested one night out a week for both of us and no questions asked. I don't want another man, and I'm afraid if I agree to such an arrangement, Chuck might find someone else.

Please advise me.

CHUCK'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Chuck has suggested in highfalutin language that you both swing with others. To my way of thinking (and regardless of what married swingers say) this would signal the beginning of the end.

DEAR ABBY: I have had the same beauty operator for about three years. I like her work very much, but she does something that I find very irritating, and I am amazed that somebody hasn't called her on it.

She addresses her patrons by their last names. "Johnston, I'll be with you in a moment. Smith, you're not dry yet. Jones, take the first dryer."

Perhaps most of her customers are either used to it, or they don't mind, but I find it rather rude.

Am I being petty? Or shouldn't a hairdresser address her patrons as either Miss or Mrs.?

CALL ME MRS.

DEAR CALL ME: A hairdresser (and anyone also who performs a personal service) should address clients as "Miss" or "Mrs." unless she is asked to address them in some other way. If it irritates you, tell her. No sense getting hotter under the dryer.

DEAR ABBY: I sure hope you can help me. I am 14, and already I am ruining my life. My problem is I am always lying to impress people, shock them, or just to get attention, I guess. If I tell the truth, I stretch it so much, it's not the truth any more.

I have told some terrible lies that got a lot of people into a lot of trouble. Once I scratched my own face up, and told everyone that my mother did it, just to get people to feel sorry for me.

I don't take drugs or anything like that. I just lie and make up stories. I'm such a good liar I almost believe some of the things I make up. Please help me to stop lying, Abby. I don't have a friend in the world.

DON'T SIGN THIS

DEAR DON'T: Chronic lying is a symptom of a deeper emotional problem. You need professional counseling. If your school has a psychologist, ask to see him (or her). If none is available, ask your mother to arrange an appointment with someone at your local mental health clinic. The person who knows he has a problem and seeks help is well on the way to solving it. Good luck.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

If (just as an example) you were paying tax at the rate of 30 mills, then your tax bill would be 30 mills multiplied by the evaluation of your property — whether it be agricultural land, industrial, commercial or residential real property.

Ten would be mandated or unvoted millage, the remaining 20 would be voted millage.

There is a provision in the law which says the county auditor, in case of an increase in evaluation, shall reduce the voted millage in the same ratio as the increase in evaluation. Please note, this applies to voted millage and specifically does not apply to the 10 mills of mandated millage.

So, be assured, as the result of our sexennial reappraisal and annual updating, your tax load is going to increase if for no other reason than that stated above.

Now, if you're feeling not too disturbed, listen to this: Two very important pieces of legislation vitally affecting the taxpayer have been introduced in the Ohio legislature. Either S.B. 477 or H.B. 1093 would, if enacted into law, remove the present requirements that property tax rates be reduced when the Board of Tax Appeals (which has almost dictatorial powers) orders an increase in the aggregate value of real estate in any taxing subdivision (such as Fayette County) or when the taxable value of real estate is increased by the application of a uniform taxable value per cent (35 per cent) of true value pursuant to the order of the Board of tax Appeals.

If either bill becomes law agricultural, industrial, commercial and residential real property taxpayers would be faced, depending economic conditions, with (note carefully) higher property tax bills every year, since voted tax levies would no longer be subject to reduction as they are now when the board issues an order to the county auditor to increase his county's tax duplicate.

Backers of these measures, school groups principally, cite the need for schools to secure additional revenues to offset yearly cost increases due to inflation.

If these measures (either one) had been law in 1972 when Athens County completed its reappraisal which increased agricultural land values 107.6 per cent, the real estate taxes would also have increased 107.6 per cent.

This could well put many landowners in an impossible situation if they wish to continue farming their acres. We should remember "farming the acres" is the only way I know of producing food.

P.S. Did you know that a study was made by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare at a cost of $70,000 comparing the perspiration odor of the Alaskan Eskimo and the Australian Aborigine? Said the Department of HEW, which financed the project, "we wanted to study stress reaction to climate."

Statewide dental care program set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Some $2 million will be used to underwrite a statewide dental care program for Ohio school children and six regional Pediatric Pulmonary Care Centers, if a plan is approved by a U.S. District Court in New York, Atty. Gen. William J. Brown announced Tuesday.

The funds are part of Ohio's $3.7 million settlement with five drug companies. A 1968 lawsuit was filed by the Ohio attorney general, along with the U.S. Department of Justice, several other states and individual consumers, against the companies for allegedly fixing the price of tetracycline from 1953 5o 1966.

The $2 million represents money remaining in an "unclaimed consumer fund" left after consumers who thought they had been overcharged for the drug filed claims.

If the proposals, selected by a five-member council, are approved by the court, the money will be equally distributed between the two programs.

The Metropolitan Health Planning Corp., of Cleveland would receive $1 million to provide a system of dental education, with the assistance of the Ohio Dental Association, on a no-cost basis to every school district in Ohio.

The pulmonary care centers, to be located in Akron, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Dayton, Toledo and Columbus, would receive funds to develop and support a network of treatment centers for chronic pulmonary disorders in children.

Man faces death penalty

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — One man faces a possible death sentence and a jury continued deliberations today on the fate of another in the July 17 slaying of a Cincinnati policeman.

A three-judge panel in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court on Wednesday found Ricardo Woods, 24, guilty of aggravated murder of a policeman in the commission of a robbery.

A jury in another courtroom retired for the night after deliberating nine hours in the case of Roland Reaves, 23, charged in the same case.

Patrolman David Cole was shot five times with separate guns when he responded to a holdup alarm at a carryout store in the Walnut Hills section of Cincinnati. The officer fired several shots before he died.

Both defendants live in Cincinnati. They were tried simultaneously in separate courtrooms.

The panel, which included Judges William R. Matthews, William S. Mathews and Robert L. Black, rejected Woods' offer to plea guilty to a lesser charge of murder.

The Ohio Revised Criminal Code now allows the death penalty for the shooting of a policeman in connection with an aggravated robbery.

The defense for both men contended that they had decided against robbing the store and were fleeing when stopped by Cole.

Reaves contended the officer began the shooting and he fired in self-defense.

Woods said at his trial that he attempted to talk to the officer but Reaves pushed past him and began shooting.

Court officials said Woods would face another court hearing before sentence is determined. The court ordered a psychiatric examination and a pre-sentence investigation.

Woods' hearing was scheduled for next month.

Cincinnati jaywalker fined for assault

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Heinz P. Daschke, 20, of Cincinnati, the first pedestrian arrested in a jaywalking crackdown by police, has been fined $100, but on another charge.

Daschke, angered by the citation after stepping from a Mount Adams section bar into the street, socked Lt. Mike Heinz in the mouth, knocking off the officer's glasses. Daschke said it was an accident.

Daschke, who had no previous record, apologized to the policeman in Hamilton County Municipal Court Wednesday and was fined for the assault.

'Grandma Moses' is topic of Progressive Club meeting

Mrs. Ruth Sheeley, president of the Progress Club of Jeffersonville, began the meeting with a seasonal poem, "The Wishing Pumpkins" when 14 members and one guest answered roll call by naming a painting of Grandma Moses.

Mrs. Rowena Cummins gave an interesting report on one of America's outstanding characters, Grandma Moses.

Grandma Moses has been called a "primitive painter," a term generally applied to artists who have had no professional training. She had a native and almost childish approach to the subject. However, as her technical ability progressed, so did her gifts as a painter and she achieved works which far outranks what one is accustomed to label "primitive."

The artist's work is basically concerned with life on the farm, and landscapes. From her small-town vantage point, the adorable Grandma Moses comes to the defense of the countryside, the empire of foliage and birds, and upholds the rights of nature. She would have all to know that there is still a bit of paradise left on the earth and that art may reach out as far as it will with its most advanced branches, because its is deeply rooted in the rich soil of Grandma Moses' garden.

During the social hour, a salad was served by Mrs. Cummins and Mrs. Margaret Dowler. Mrs. Dale Davidson was a guest.

The .65 of a mill additional tax levy for the Fayette Progressive School was received and discussed by members, who voted in favor of supporting the levy.

Mrs. Lentz and Mrs. Carl Wilt II demonstrated crafts with all members participating.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Maxine Warner, served refreshments. Those present were Mrs. Hilbert Meyer, Mrs. O'Cull, Mrs. Juanita Turner, Mrs. Dean Powell, Mrs. Gladys Warner, Mrs. Maxine Warner, Mrs. Mary Ellen Lininger, Mrs. Violet Davis, Mrs. Hazel Wilt, Mrs. Max Wilson, Mrs. Jamison and the hostess.

Auto chief claims recession here

DETROIT (AP) — Declaring that the auto industry and the nation are in a recession, the chairman of Chrysler Corp. has called for President Ford to work toward easing credit availability and encouraging consumers to spend rather than save their money.

"Recession is here in the automobile industry. Recession is here in the building industry. I would say recession is here in the country," Lynn A. Townsend said at a news conference Wednesday.

He said the President's economic policies are aimed in the wrong direction because recession and slack demand have superseded inflation as the auto industry's key problem.

"Our two problems in this country are inflation and recession. I think inflation has peaked, and very rapidly recession is taking the major spotlight," Townsend said.

"We have been in a program here where apparently the opinion has been that we can control inflation by dampening down consumer purchasing.

"I think it has gotten to the point that we should direct our efforts at stimulating the economy through consumer purchasing, rather than further depressing it."

The news conference came one day after the nation's No. 3 automaker announced an $8 million loss on third quarter sales. Chrysler showed an $11.2 million profit in U.S. and Canadian vehicle sales, but that was offset by a $19.2 million loss in overseas sales.

Chrysler raised its prices an average $415 in September, and Townsend said Wednesday there is "no doubt" another price increase will be put on 1975 Chrysler vehicles in the "near-term future."

Townsend confirmed that Chrysler is considering closing its Jefferson Avenue plant here, which builds full-sized and luxury models and employs 5,000 workers, as an economy move.

The firm's auto sales are down 18.4 per cent so far this year. Industrywide sales were off 28 per cent in mid-October from levels a year ago. For the year, sales are off 21 per cent.

Kissinger, Brezhnev hold meet

MOSCOW (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger met today with Soviet Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev to offer a series of options for a new treaty limiting offensive nuclear weapons.

Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko also was present for the meeting in the Kremlin. It was Kissinger's first meeting with the party chief since the American arrived Wednesday.

Details of the American proposals were not disclosed. But a senior American official told newsmen the United States is prepared to join the Soviet Union in negotiations for a broad agreement instead of concentrating on restricting the development of missiles with nuclear warheads.

An agreement on guidelines for the arms negotiations would be approved by President Ford and Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev at a minisummit meeting the Russians have proposed be held during the President's visit to the Far East next month.

American officials consider Kissinger's visit a major test of the Soviet interest in negotiating an extension of the 1972 pact limiting some offensive nuclear weapons. That agreement expires in 1977, and the two governments have agreed in principle to work out a new treaty valid until 1985.

The fact that the Soviets proposed the Ford-Brezhnev meeting was taken by American officials as evidence that they want to continue the policy of detente they forged with the Nixon administration. U.S. officials were also hopeful that the recent compromise with Congress over Jewish emigration and Soviet trade benefits would give Kissinger's mission a push forward.

Kissinger also hopes to win Soviet acquiescence to his plan of step-by-step, separate negotiations between Israel and each of its Arab adversaries.

Women priests planning rites

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The Rev. Dr. Jeannette R. Piccard of Minneapolis says she and two other women ordained as Episcopal priests will celebrate the eucharist in New York City's Riverside Church on Sunday.

The three are planning the service despite a declaration of the Episcopal House of Bishops that they are not priests.

The ordination of the Rev. Dr. Piccard, 79, and 10 other women last July was called "irregular" by the church.

Traffic Court

Two cases scheduled for hearing in Municipal Court Wednesday were for charges of driving while intoxicated. One of the defendants pleaded guilty and was sentenced, the other forfeited bond.

Lewis Murphy Jr., 46, Greenfield-Sabina Road pleaded guilty to a DWI charge levied by city police and was fined $200, sentenced to three days in jail and lost his license for 30 days. Acting Judge Omar Schwart also found Murphy guilty of a stop sign violation and fined him $25.

Jerome L. Mouser, 54, Columbus, was fined $25 after he was found guilty of consuming beer in a motor vehicle.

Two Chillicothe residents were fined $25 each after they were found guilty of passing stopped school buses. Timothy E. Riley, 20, and Cheryl D. Wunsch, 30, had been cited for the offenses by Sheriff's deputies.

Gaylen E. Adkins, 28, of 903 Forest St., was fined $25 for failing to drive on the right half of the roadway and Jimmy McCallister, 18, of 128 W. Elm St., was fined $25 for speeding. Both had been cited by city police.

Dividend approved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Directors of Buckeye International Inc. approved a quarterly dividend of 5 cents a share, payable Dec. 2 to shareholders of record Nov. 15.

Receiving stolen property charge dismissed in court

A charge of receiving stolen property, a felony charge, was dismissed in a preliminary hearing in Municipal Court Wednesday at the request of the assistant Fayette County prosecuting attorney John H. Roszmann.

Barbara Wilson, 35, of 114 W. Paint St., had been charged by city police Saturday in connection with a burglary of a home on E. Paint Street which is owned by Mrs. Peter Hay of Summit, N.J.

According to her defense counsel, Otis R. Hess, the police had found stolen property in an abandomed shed on her property, but the state did not have evidence showing that she had any knowledge that the items had been stashed in the garage.

Acting Judge Omar A. Schwart granted the prosecution's motion to dismiss the charge.

A WASHINGTON C. H. man received a suspended 90-day jail term on a charge of resisting arrest filed by city police. Harry L. Hollar, 40, was fined $25 after pleading guilty to intoxication, and was handed the suspended jail term for resisting arrest on the offense.

A charge of assault filed against Richard J. Harris, 32, Mount Sterling, was dismissed as was a charge of disorderly conduct filed against Timothy Williams, 24, of Dogtown Road. Randy Nichols, 23, of 1004 Delaware St., was released after a charge of assault was dismissed.

Lewis G. Christopher, 27, of 328 Broadway forfeited $25 bond on a charge of illegally hunting rabbits. The charge was filed by Jerry Cremeans, state game protector.

Council rejects cable TV hike

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Hamilton City Council unanimously rejected a $1 monthly cable television firm's rate increase request citing the firm's failure to extend service to all the city's 70,000 residents.

Charles Greiner, attorney for the Hamilton Cable Communications Co., a subsidiary of the Telecommunications Corp., Denver, Colo., said the firm was broke and needed the city's help.

Progressive school analysis

Retarded children can be helped

By SANDY FOSSON
Record-Herald Staff Writer

Mental retardation.

Through the years, the word has accrued many different meanings. Those people who were said to be "mentally retarded" were either locked away in some insane asylum or treated like animals because through human error, they were believed to be "damned by God," "incurably crazy" or "infested with disease." Sounds barbaric, right?

YET JUST last year (1973, not 1773), a survey was conducted in Fayette County and an alarming number of school-aged children and young adults were being harbored at home and withheld from society because they were physically or mentally handicapped.

And according to Carl Whitaker, administrator at the Fayette County Progressive School, there are still possibly 20-30 young adults sitting at home doing absolutely nothing because Fayette County is one of only four counties in Ohio which does not have an adult program for the mentally handicapped.

The American Medical Association defines mental retardation as referring to "subaverage general intellectual functioning which originates during the developmental period and is associated with impairment in one of the following: maturation, learning or social adjustment."

According to Sam Kirk, author of "Educating Exceptional Children," it is estimated there are three to four trainable children living at home or in institutions per 1,000 school-age children.

The local Fayette County Progressive School has increased its enrollment from eight children when the school started in 1967 to a total of 45 with expected increases again next year. These 45 children are broken down into five home-bound students, who are so severely handicapped mentally or physically they cannot attend the school and must be taught in their homes; five developmental students, which are school-aged children more handicapped than the others in the school; seven primary; eight intermediate; and 10 junior students.

These students, ages three to twenty-one, are being taught by five certified teachers through the Ohio Board of Mental Retardation at the school from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. However, the preschoolers attend only three, one-half day sessions. Each has been tested and showed an IQ of 50 or lower, the level at which students are excluded from public schools.

In the school, they are instructed under six board areas of study — communication, basic knowledge, social behavior, self care, body usage and practical skills. They are taught to share and communicate with each other and maintain their personal habits, such as body appearance and health care.

"It takes a mental age of six and a half to be able to read," said Whitaker. "Some of the students may reach that level to achieve minimal, survival skills; others may never learn."

The Fayette Progressive School is faced with a common dilemma of Ohio schools this year. Because of its move to the larger, Sunnyside Elementary school facility and increased, inflationary costs, the school has been forced to propose a .65-mill levy for additional operating funds.

WITH PASSAGE of the levy, the present budget of $61,000 would increase to $63,000. Included in the proposed levy would be an adult activities center to be established at the school next fall. Under the program, mentally handicapped adults would be paid to do menial jobs while at the same time; they would be engaged in a useful capacity and obtain self-satisfaction.

Tuesday, the school conducted an open house for parents and public to observe the functioning of the facility. Those who watched were awed by the accomplishments. True, some of the children were unable to support themselves, others opened their months but the right words refused to form and still others could not remember just how the tune went, but above all — their smiles and laughter prevailed.

One worker at the school was overheard as saying, "These children enjoy being with one another more than the average child." They were exceptional in all aspects of the word.

While evaluating the Fayette Progressive School, a postage stamp just recently published by the U.S. Postal Service comes to mind with the inscription — "Retarded Children Can Be Helped."

Mideast receives big farm imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm exports to the Middle East and North Africa may soar to $2 billion this fiscal year, accounting for nearly 10 per cent of total U.S. farm sales overseas, says the Agriculture Department.

The region, stretching from Morocco to Iran, bought $1.4 billion worth of U.S. farm products in the year ending last June 30, up from $521 million in 1972. Officials said oil revenues have been a major factor.

"Demand for food was strong before this major change occurred, but foreign exchange shortages limited food imports for some countries in the area prior to 1973, particularly Egypt," the department said.

The analysis was included in a monthly report, Foreign Agricultural Trade of the United States, published by the department's Economic Research Service. It was written by John B. Parker Jr. and Michael E. Kurtzig of that agency.

Although all the countries in the regions do not have oil, the flow of capital from those that do — including Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Abu Dhabi — have helped others build up their foreign exchanges.

"U.S. farm exports to the area could reach $2 billion in fiscal 1975, mostly because of larger sales of wheat to Iran, Turkey and Egypt, and rising sales of rice to Iran, Iraq and the Arabian peninsula," the report said.

Also, the report said, sales of a wide variety of processed U.S. food to the Arabian peninsula countries are still thriving, including tomato products, canned fruits and juices, canned peas and beans, honey and popcorn.

Wheat exports in 1974-75 could reach five million metric tons for a total value of $900 million, compared with 4.2 million tons valued at $687 million last season, the report said.

Rice exports are expected to total more than 450,000 tons worth $300 million, up from 156,407 tons valued at $90 million last fiscal year.

Total U.S. farm exports to all countries are expected to be around $21 billion for the year ending next June 30, about the same as the record value set in 1973-74.

While quantities of some major items are expected to decline this year — including smaller total exports of wheat and corn — higher prices are pushing up the overall values.

During the first two months of the current fiscal year, for example, the total export value was $3.08 billion, up 14 per cent from July-August 1973 despite a 6 per cent decline in actual quantities shipped.

The July-August export value of wheat was $4.24 per bushel, compared with $2.90 during the same two months last year, according to USDA records. Rice was 23 cents per pound, compared with 16 cents a year earlier.

Commission's recommendations studied

County government study controversial

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The final report of the Ohio Commission on Local Government Services has been submitted to Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan. The bi-partisan commission has submitted 11 individual studies concerning various aspects of government services. Incorporated into each study are the commission's recommendations for improved services. After some necessary explanation of the commission's composition and purpose, the following article will cover in some detail one of the more controversial of these studies — the recommendation of a new form for the structure of county governments.)

By GEORGE MALEK

On April 6, 1972, Ohio Gov. Gilligan asked a panel of 52 volunteers to investigate the efficiency of governmental services. The volunteers represented a wide range of professional men and women, including state legislators, university professors, county commissioners, city councilmen, and business executives. Members of the group covered a wide spectrum of political affiliations and varying degrees of involvement in the political arena. This diversification is demonstrated by the fact that minority reports are found in nearly every study.

A number of paid staff members and professional consultants were engaged to assist the commission in its research. They were paid through grants from six philanthropic foundations and no tax money was used to finance the study.

THE ONLY instructions given by the governor were that the commission examine and evaluate (1) the allocation of responsibility for public services at the various levels of government, (2) the constitutional and legislative impediments to effective public services, (3) the structural and financial capabilities of local governments, and (4) the interrelationship of the various levels of government.

In order to accomplish this the commission selected specific areas for study, and then held public hearings, surveys, subcommittee meetings and hundreds of hours of discussions to gather information and compile its reports.

The findings of the commission have been submitted for consideration by the governor. Although the governor may make some recommendations to the legislature, neither the governor nor the legislature is under any obligation to act on the commission's proposals.

Perhaps the most potentially far-reaching of the panel's recommendations is in its study of the structure of local government.

As the commission began studying the means by which communities might improve public services such as wastewater and solid waste disposal, law enforcement, local correctional facilities and transportation, it became apparent that the very structure of county government often hampered local officials in their efforts to improve public services.

County government is an arm of the state government. Rules and regulations which dictate how county government is structured are determined by the Ohio legislature, but these have received little attention since 1900. Since that time, tremendous changes have taken place, populations have multiplied, residents have migrated to a more urbanized way of life, transportation needs have been transfigured beyond recognition and outhouses have been replaced by sprawling treatment plants.

As the population has grown, the problems of law enforcement, pollution, waste disposal and transportation have grown proportionately. The commission concluded that these problems have at times exceeded the county government's ability to respond, and will continue to do so as long as it is handcuffed by an archaic structural design.

The county's power is delegated by the Ohio legislature. However, the "implied powers" rest with the state. This means that unless authority to act is specifically given to the county, it is retained by the state. When situations arise which are not covered by existing law, the county in many cases cannot take action without an act of the legislature.

The commission has recommended that county governments be allowed to take any action it deems necessary unless such action is specifically prohibited by state law. The panel members concluded that giving implied power to the individual county will make local governments more responsive to the needs of its constituents.

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENTS, including the City of Washington C.H., already have such latitude. Municipal governments may pass city or village ordinances, counties cannot; cities and villages can elect to have a sewage treatment facility which each resident is compelled to use and help finance, again county governments cannot.

Another problem area identified by the commission was that of overlapping responsibility between elected officials, with two or more officials responsible for the same services. The members have suggested that such overlapping be minimized by having only one office responsible for each area of public service.

With only one office responsible for a particular service, the voters would have no difficulty determining which officials should be replaced if they were dissatisfied with the services rendered.

One conflict in county government cited by the commission is in the construction and care of the county highway system. The county commissioners of each county are responsible for the maintenance of county roads. Their only means of carrying out road construction is through the county engineer's office, but since the county engineer is an elected official, he is under no obligation to comply with the wishes or desires of the county commissioners.

Some counties are fortunate, they have a great deal of cooperation between the offices of the commissioners and the engineer. Others are not. There, a lack of cooperation leaves county roads in substandard condition, and the residents are unclear as to which office is responsible for the lack of quality maintenance. Voters are unclear because two different offices are responsible for the same work.

The commission has recommended that the county engineer be appointed by the county commissioners. In this way the engineer would be directly responsible to the commissioners, and any blame or laurels for the condition of the roads could be directly attributed to the efficiency of the commissioners. The commissioners would also be able to set the salary for the engineer, raising it to whatever level was necessary to attract the quality of person demanded by the commissioners. The engineers salary is now set by state statute without consideration of the qualifications possessed by the individual engineer or the amount of work demanded by a particular county.

A similar situation involves the civil work of the county prosecuting attorney. The prosecutor not only represents the state in criminal matters, but also advises the county commissioners on civil matters. In this capacity, he is an advisor to the commissioners, but is selected by a vote of the populus, and those who must act on his recommendations have no voice in the selection process. If the commissioners appoint their own counsel, then they alone are responsible for any legal difficulties in which they are involved.

The commission on local government suggested that in addition to an elected county prosecutor, who would handle criminal matters, the county commissioners be allowed to create and staff a legal department for civil consultation. This seems to be especially important in large counties, and is often done in a sense by prosecutors who have assistants to whom they often delegate either the civil or criminal responsibilities. Fayette County pays the salary for such an assistant because of the prosecutor's workload.

The commission further recommended that there be a county administrator in each county to serve in a capacity similar to a city manager. He would serve as little more than a clerk in very small counties, but would be its chief administrative agent in larger counties. The salary would be determined by the commissioners according to the county's needs.

Included in the recommendations for restructuring of county government were the elimination of the county coroner as an elected post and the suggestion that the county treasurer and county auditor be incorporated into one position.

ACCORDING TO the commission's study, most races for coroner are uncontested and the majority of coroners would prefer that they be known as professional medical personnel, not politicians. It adds that the peak season of work for the county auditor is the slack season for the treasurer and vise versa. Therefore, the commission concluded that the offices might be more efficient if the two offices were combined.

The commission noted that it found municipal governments seemed to have a very efficient system of providing public services. Interviews with municipal officials revealed that no legislation was deemed necessary to assist their administration of public services. The panel also found township governments to be very effective and responsive to their constituents.

The commission emphasized that the purpose of its recommendations was to give each county the necessary tools to provide better public services and the flexibility to become more responsive to the needs of its constituents.

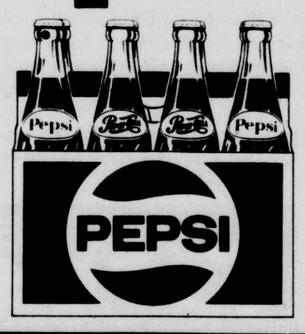

The commission felt that if county governments became more responsive and efficient the current trend toward increasing state and federal control could be halted, and more authority could be retained by the lower levels of government in each county.

Dormant ability is revived at age 63

BY MARK THELLMANN

Lawrence Jones discovered what he was meant to do in his lifetime nine years ago, at the age of 63! He has been happily creating and inventing ever since.

It's hard to describe what Jones does in the garage-shop behind his home at 1044 Yeoman St. In one short sentence - he makes things, but it's much more than that. He collects what many people would see as junk and turns it into useful, beautiful articles, anyone would be proud to display in their living room.

ENJOYING HIS CREATIONS — Lawrence Jones takes a breather from working on his projects in his garage-shop at 1044 Yeoman St. At the age of 71, Jones puts in at least a four-hour day working on the furniture items he restores and builds, aside from attending flea markets and gun shows to sell his work and traveling all over the state in search of parts he needs for his projects. On the right is an end-table he made with marble inlaid top and two sets of working drawers. The set in the middle is for show and does not open.

HE USES his artistic ability to make lamps out of old sewing machines, and coffee tables and end tables out of their bases. He can piece together parts from discarded furniture and create a lovely new piece, totally different from what it had been and usually more useful.

When asked how he had acquired this talent which lay dormant so many years in his hands and head, he replied, "Throughout my life I have worked many years at many different jobs. In 1923, I left Washington C.H. where I was born, to work for what was at that time, Winslow Glass in Columbus. After four and one-half years there, I left to become a farm hand. In 1934, I returned to Washington C.H. and worked as a maintance man for the Cudahay Food Co. for 24 years and then I retired. Probably my greatest asset was my ability to observe and pickup immediately what other people do. For example, I once watched tradesmen laying bricks and was able to work as a brick-layer for awhile after my retirement. People would ask how long I had been in the trade, after commenting favorably on my work and I would smile and tell them not very long. They would never believe me!" Jones exclaimed.

Jones also commented about his fscination with machines.

"I would observe a machine doing something and mentally take it apart and put it back together with parts from other machines I had seen, in attempt to make it more efficient and less complex."

Jones' garage-shop verifies this. He has constructed a drill press, a saw for cutting marble, a grinder for polishing marble (he uses slabs of marble for his remodeled sewing machine table-tops), and many other practical tools.

Jones' first project dealt with woodworking. He made lamenated lamps from all different kinds of wood. One of these lamps, which can be found in his living room, stands about three feet high (without the shade) and contains layers of: walnut, oak, cherry, butternut, cedar, maple, sassafrass, cyprus, elm, hickory, ash, fir, honeylocust, Brasil rosewood, mohogany, hackberry, and a top piece of rare Logan Elm, which has quite a story behind it.

"That piece of wood came from one of the largest trees in Ohio, " Jones explained. It was so huge U.S. 23 was built around it, where it was located between Columbus and Circleville. The tree was wider than a car and no one really remembers how tall it was. Unfortunately, it had be be cut down 11 years ago because it was dying. The man contracted to do the job was told to fell it and as secretly as possible, get rid of it, for fear of everyone swarming around trying to get a piece of this historic landmark."

Jones stated he was given a piece on the sly and anxiously requested this information not be put in print, but reconsidered saying, "Oh, I guess I can't get in trouble anymore for having it, but I sure hope someone doesn't read this and come to take my lamp apart!"

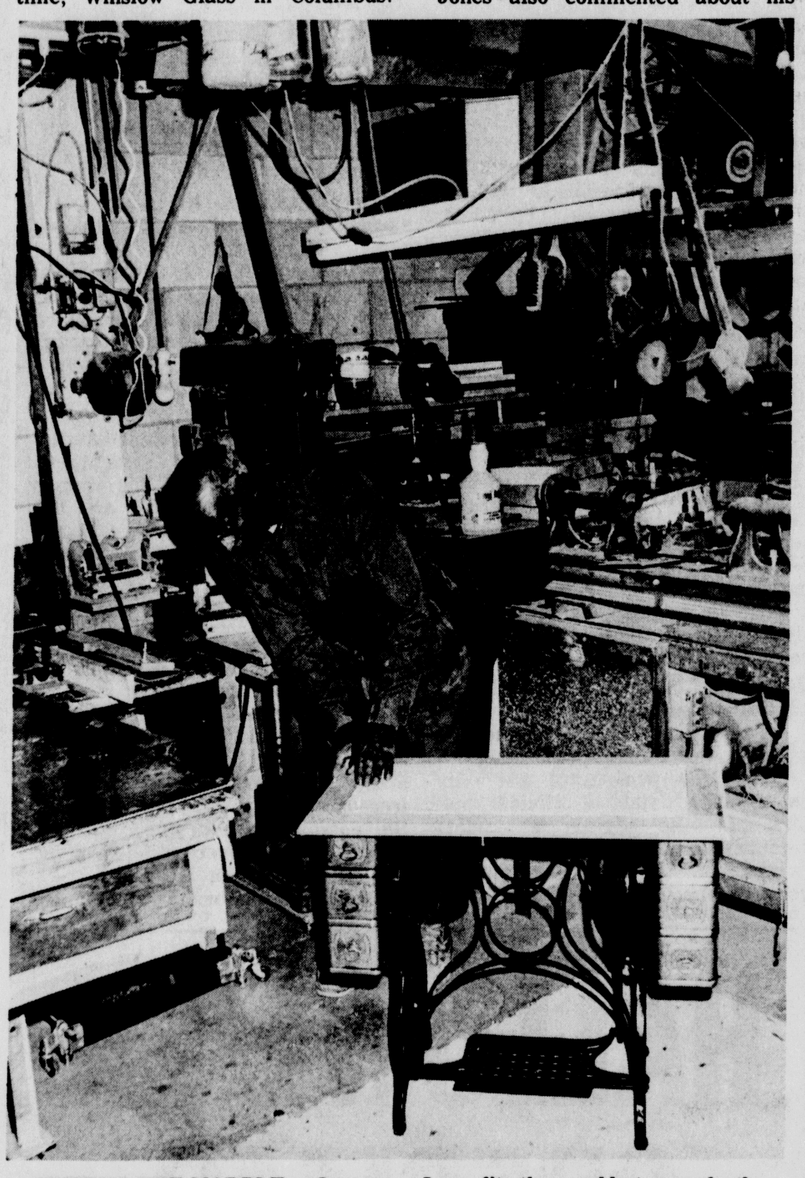

Jones told of a time a friend of his came to visit and spotted the piece of Logan Elm in the lamp immediately saying, "I've got some of that too," so evidentally there was more than one piece which slipped through the wood-cutter's fingers.

The business end of Jones' hobby used to be conducted at the Fayette County gun shows, but now over half of his sales are accomplished over the telephone or through his front door.

"Things are going so well, I put in at least four hours a day just to keep up with my orders," Jones said.

His "day" consists of getting up between 5:30 a.m. and 6 a.m. every morning, eating breakfast and then working til noon and usually returning to his shop in the afternoon or early evening.

Aside from the time put in the shop, Jones is also on the road quite abit, looking for the parts he needs for his projects and getting new ideas from everything he sees.

"I never know when or where an idea will come. I was paying my respects to a deceased friend at the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home and spotted a unique endtable assembly awhile ago. That table in the corner was built shortly therafter, based on the design I had seen," Jones explained and pointed his finger.

One of Jones' best sellers is his sewing machine-marbletop tables and his sewing machine lamps. His procedure for making a table is to take the original apart and then choose the number and type of drawers he wants the new table to have, if he decides not to use the original drawers. He has a vast selection of drawers (he has purchased 126 sewing machines and tables to date), stacked up along one wall in his shop. He then applies a liquid paint and varnish stripper with a brush, lets it soak in for 10 minutes and then wipes it off. Then a solution of sodium-phosphate and water is applied to remove all the residue and the table and drawers are left to dry for three days.

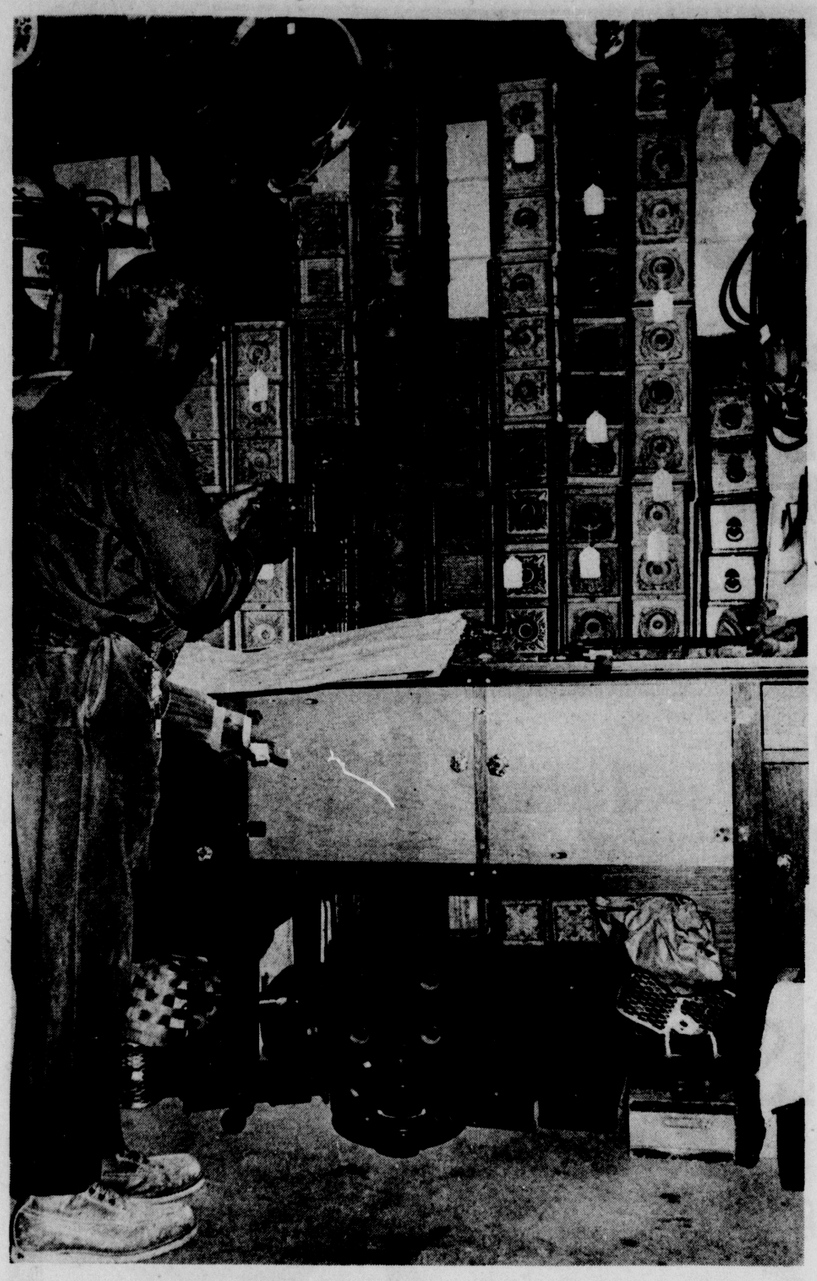

"THE CHEMICAL stripping is so efficient, very little sanding, if any, is ever required," Jones commented. "I then cut the frame and the marble to fit it and piece everything back together."

The cost of Jones' projects are very reasonable - so reasonable he has been blamed for undercharging.

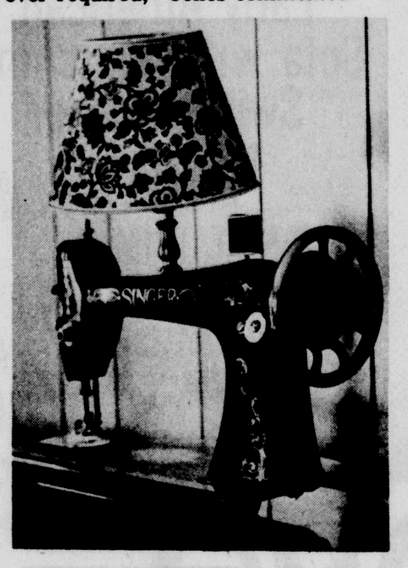

"I personally feel if I can get back my original investment and a little profit, that's all I need and all I deserve," Jones stated.

The aforementioned tables run from $45 through $65 and the marble alone would cost a customer that!

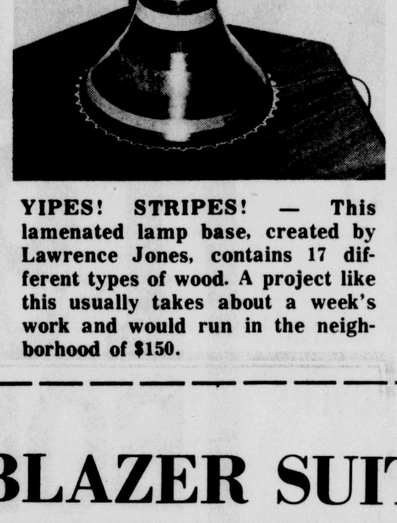

Jones looked back over his 71 years of life and sadly admitted, "How I wish I would have done this at the very beginning of my working years. It's great to be in business for yourself and it's fantastic to be doing something you love to do so much there is no work involved. This is the kind of retirement every person should have!"

CHOOSING A SET OF DRAWERS — One wall of Lawrence Jones' garage-shop is filled with drawers. The ones pictured with the white tags on them have already caught customers eyes and are reserved for specially ordered items. Jones used to sell his projects at flea markets and gun shows, but now most of his business comes by way of telephone or house visits.

YIPES! STRIPES! — This lamenated lamp base, created by Lawrence Jones, contains 17 different types of wood. A project like this usually takes about a week's work and would run in the neighborhood of $150.

PRACTICAL PROJECTS — The design for this table Lawrence Jones constructed was conceived when he saw an interesting table at Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home. Jones stated he never knows when or where something will catch his eye and an idea for a project will strike. He also made the lamented lamp on top of the table and the magazine rack on the right.

WASHINGTON REPORT

From

WILLIAM H. HARSHA

6th District, Ohio

The following statement was issued by Ohio Congressman William H. Harsha concerning Mexico's announcement that it would offer Cuba the first chance to buy the newly discovered Mexican oil:

Mexico has been our traditional ally and "good neighbor" for many years. Our friends south of the border have benefitted well from this good neighbor policy since 1943 to the tune of over $300 million in U.S. foreign aid.

Consequently, I am deeply disturbed to learn that this sharing of wealth and good will not be returned when it is us, Uncle Sam, with hat in hand.

MEXICO'S decision to offer Communist Cuba the first option on its newly discovered oil is an affront to the United States of the first order. Furthermore, Mexico's intentions to establish its own oil prices at a level in keeping with those of the highly inflated prices demanded by the Arab nations strikes another blow for continued hardship throughout a world critically short of energy resources at reasonable cost and dangerously tottering on financial disaster.

Mexico has the option to turn this course by helping to lower oil prices, but it evidently is more concerned with keeping the world and the United States over an oil barrel. This incident along with thousands of others points up dramatically what a horrendous waste of the taxpayers dollars our philosophy of buying friends with foreign aid is.

Charles E. Wisecup, Rt. 2, has filed suit in Common Pleas Court for divorce from Mary A. Wisecup, South Solon. The parties were married Aug. 24, 1974 in Maysville, Ky., and have no children. The plaintiff requests the marriage to be held null and void and that both parties be released from any obligations.

DIVORCES GRANTED

Dora F. Mick, 830 Sycamore St., has been granted a divorce from John F. Mick, Rt. 1, Bainbridge, on grounds of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty. The plaintiff was awarded household goods, temporary alimony and restoration of her maiden name, Dora F. Moore.

Charles Sexton, 1223 Vanderbilt Drive, has been granted a divorce from Patty W. Sexton, 917 Yeoman St., on grounds of gross neglect of duty. Rights of the respective properties were granted as written in the parties' separation agreement.

Larry N. Hurtt, 1556 Washington Ave., has been granted a divorce from Carolyn M. Hurtt, Chillicothe, on grounds of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty. The plaintiff was awarded custody of the three minor children. The separation agreement was approved in dividing the property between the parties.

Hough free on appeal

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — James Hough, the flamboyant intermediary in the return of two stolen Rembrandt paintings, was expected to be released from jail on a $30,000 appeal bond today.

The 1st Ohio District Court of Appeals on Wednesday ordered the bond while Hough's conviction for extortion, harboring a felon and receiving stolen goods is appealed. He was sentenced to 3-20 years in prison.

Hough was found guilty of illegal activity in representing thieves who stole the paintings, valued at $1.5 million, from the Taft Museum last December. The $100,000 ransom was recovered with the arrests of three men.

The three pleaded guilty to lesser charges and testified against Hough. They said he agreed to help them collect ransom for the paintings.

Ohio Perspective

Gilligan, Rhodes lock horns

By PERRY SMITH
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) As the campaign for governor enters its final weeks, all but one of the published polls give incumbent Gov. John J. Gilligan the edge, but shows James A. Rhodes coming up fast.

Rhodes, 65-year-old former two-term Republican governor, calls it a "neck and neck" race. A Columbus Dispatch poll shows Rhodes with an edge, but terms the race too close to call.

Other polls, possibly outdated within two weeks, show Gilligan running as much as 11 percentage points ahead, but even Gilligan's staff doesn't believe the margin is that much.

"I would say that is a little high," said Robert Tenenbaum, Gilligan's press secretary.

Most of those familiar with polling think the spread should be around 6 per cent. Except Rhodes, that is.

"We're going to win," he said flatly.

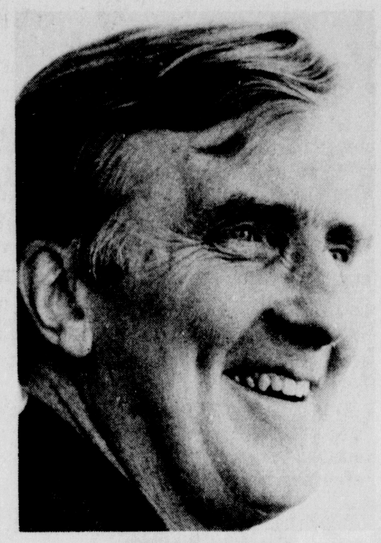

Rhodes has received the endorsement of two major newspapers, but other major newspaper endorsements to date have gone to Gilligan.

Rhodes has been hitting hard on an $80.5 million surplus in the budget found nine days after Gilligan denied any existed, a turnabout the governor blamed on bad staff information.

In a series of radio commercials entitled "Days to Remember," Rhodes recounts the surplus announcement, the closing of state parks and the passage of the state income tax, which he said was sold to benefit schools.

In a speech in Mayfield Heights, Rhodes said seven Ohio schools were in process of closing and that many more will have to close by Jan. 1 "unless they get the state income tax money that the present governor promised them."

Generally Rhodes cites those items to support his overall charge that "Gilligan is guilty of widespread mismanagement of state affairs."

JOHN GILLIGAN

JAMES RHODES

Gilligan has argued that before he became governor mental patients in state institutions lived in "unbelievable, deplorable conditions without proper care."

In four years, he contends, the situation has been turned around, with more doctors, nurses and ward attendants to see that those who can't take care of themselves have somebody to do it.

The state income tax, he said, put schools on their best financial footing in years, although they will have problems because inflation keeps eating away at their financial support.

Of his accomplishments, Gilligan said, "They are not as easy to see as is a highway, a bridge or a lodge in a state park or something.

"It is true that Mr. Rhodes, during his years in office, borrowed more money than any governor in the history of the state and spent it on highways, bridges and various kinds of physical improvements of the state which were highly visible and highly tangible.

"Our effort has been to improve the quality of services in the field of education or in the kind of care that we give the mentally ill and the mentally retarded in mental hospitals, or in our community centers."

When all these things are judged, Gilligan contended, "One has to agree that it makes Ohio a better place to live and a better place to raise our children."

Rhodes has argued that state mental hospitals had more psychiatrists when he left office than they now have. He called Gilligan's statements "puffery."

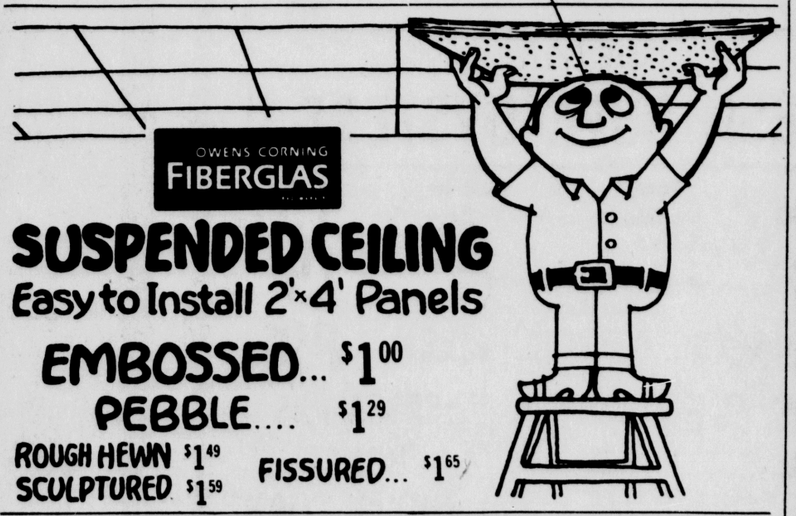

Gilligan, he said, "will have to double the income tax to provide everything he has promised."

Two-day session looms

Grand jury seated for heavy docket

A grand jury was seated Thursday morning in the Fayette County Common Pleas Court to consider an unusually heavy docket of criminal cases.

Although the cases which will be considered by the grand jury were not released, it was reported that the number of cases greatly exceeds the usual docket. When jurors were being questioned prior to being seated, they were asked whether or not they could stay Friday if another day was necessary to handle all of the cases.

The list of jurors who were seated will be released after the session is concluded.

NOT IN the recent past, and perhaps never before, has there been any concern over the possibility of a two-day grand jury.

Fayette County Common Pleas Court Judge Evelyn W. Coffman presided over the seating of the jurors, and Fayette County prosecuting attorneys James A. Kiger and John H. Roszmann are presenting the state's evidence to the grand jury.

On the basis of the state's evidence presented, the jury will decide which defendants should stand trial for the offenses charged.

Nixon re-enters California hospital

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon, facing possible surgery, has re-entered the hospital here because home treatment for his phlebitis condition proved ineffective, his doctor says.

Nixon limped slightly but was unassisted as he walked through a rear service entrance to be admitted Wednesday night to Memorial Hospital Medical Center for the second time in three weeks. A spokesman for the hospital in this coastal city bordering Los Angeles said the former president was expected to be released by the end of the week.

Nixon apparently made the 50-mile trip from his San Clemente home to the hospital by car.

There had been no advance announcement that he was returning to the hospital. Jack Weiblen, hospital vice president, said Nixon was brought in after dark to reduce publicity.

"He covets his privacy," Weiblen said of Nixon, who resigned as president last Aug. 9.

"For the past few days oral anticoagulation medication has been inadequate," Lungren said in a statement to newsmen late Wednesday night.

He said a diagnostic radiology test called a venogram had been performed on the 61-year-old former president after his arrival and showed a "near total occlusion or blockage of blood flow" in the area of Nixon's left thigh.

Lungren noted that several blood clots were found in the swollen leg, but he added that "these clots could be old or fresh."

Nixon received anticoagulents Coumadin orally and heparin intravenously during his first hospital stay, 12 days ending Oct. 4. But only Coumadin had been prescribed for him while he was convalescing at his oceanfront villa at San Clemente.

"If we're not capable of proving adequate prophylactic anticoagulation by oral Coumadin, then the possibility of surgical intervention must be considered," said Lungren. He has treated Nixon since 1952.

Lungren gave no indication what the surgery would involve or when it would be performed if results from Nixon's current hospitalization prove unsatisfactory. Other medical spokesmen were not immediately available to comment on the nature of such surgery.

Lungren performed a lung scan on Nixon Wednesday night and concluded that the right lung was stable and "there was no evidence of any new involvement."

Treatment of the swollen left leg has delayed Nixon's testimony at the Watergate trial in Washington. He has been subpoenaed as a witness for both the defense and prosecution.

The greatest tidal change is in the Bay of Fundy, between Nova Scotia and Maine, where the tide may rise 53½ feet.

Hyperactive rats get 'human' ulcers

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—A Washington-based research scientist believes people, like rats, run themselves to death or suffer from psychosomatic ulcers for no apparent reason.

Pare noted that exercise has been recommended for animals as well as people, but an experiment with rats had adverse results seldom mentioned.

Two groups of rats were placed in cages. One group was provided with exercise wheels. The other group was not.

Eighty per cent of the rats with exercise wheels were dead inside of 14 days. Autopsies showed they died of ulcers. The rats without the wheels suffered no ill effects.

"We became extremely interested in this phenomenon," said Pare, adding that the rats were under no compulsion, either for food or electronic stimulation, to work.

The hyperactive rats were found on autopsy to suffer from severe stomach ulcers," he said.

He said experimenters discovered the hyperactive rats had sudden weight loss. They were older or female and underwent severe metabolism change.

Their condition could be compared to that of an extremely active person who neglects to eat well or rest but is not necessarily underfed or ill-treated.

These active rats when removed from their stressful activity needed considerable time to recover, and in many cases their ulcers remained, he said.

Pare said that while the phenomenon is not completey understood, the experiments represent a worthwhile research technique whereby the effect of psychosomatic ulcers can be investigated.

OFBF backs land tax formula

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation on Tuesday approved the agricultural land taxation formula proposed by the State Board of Tax Appeals.

The bureau suggested only minor revisions and urged the board to implement the rules gradually to insure they work properly.

At a public hearing Tuesday in Columbus, Dean Simeral, the bureau's director of state activities, suggested changes he said would clarify and strengthen some of the rules.

The changes include better definition of agricultural land areas and text changes to better explain words, concepts, cropping patterns and land capability classes.

The tax rules evolved from voter approval in November 1973 of State Issue One, which allows for the taxation of farm land at agricultural values rather than at the value of its supposed highest rate.

The constitutional amendment is intended to protect rural land from being forced into urbanization by excessively high property taxes.

THE BUSINESS had been owned and operated for the past nine years by Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Willis, 450 Rawlings St.

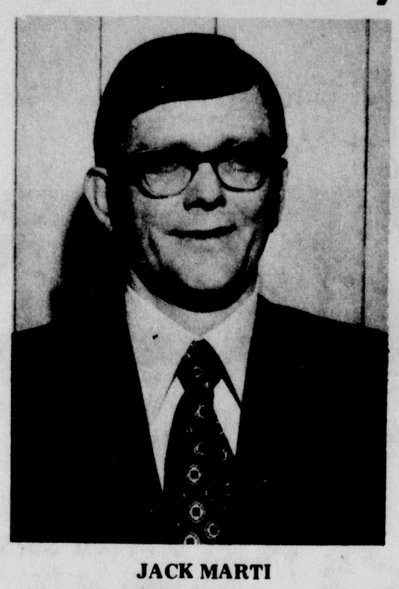

Marti, a resident of Washington C.H. for the past two and a half years, said he has planned a number of changes in the operation of the business in an effort to develop a supper club type of atmosphere.

The new owner said live entertainment will be geared to appeal to the adult crowd and that he is contemplating the possibility of a small music combo appearing at the restaurant on weeknights from 8 p.m. until 12 midnight with no admission, but rather a minimum cover charge.

The restaurant presently features a sunken bar, but added innovations planned by the new ownership includes the installation of a piano bar.

Marti said he plans to change the menu to add a wider variety of gourmet treats since the restaurant has specialized in basically steaks, chops and seafoods in the past. He also plans minor changes in the salad bar operation.

He plans to continue the ladies night specials, the Friday night buffet and cocktail hour with reduced prices for late afternoon customers.

JACK MARTI

A new Thanksgiving dinner arrangement, to be served from 12 noon until 6 p.m., has also been planned.

Regular business hours will continue as in the past from 4 p.m. until 2 a.m. daily except Sunday and Marti said the business will honor any commitments entered into by the previous management prior to his acquisition such as dates for Christmas parties and wedding receptions.

The business will be owned and operated by Marti and no changes in the restaurant's staff are anticipated. The business presently has 10 employes and the kitchen staff is headed by Mrs. Billie Carper, a well-known chef in the Washington C.H. area.

The restaurant can accommodate over 150 persons in two large dining rooms and a cocktail lounge. The bars seats 12 persons and there are tables inside the bar area for additional customers.

MARTI CAME to Washington C.H. as general manager of the Redman Industries, Inc., plant from Alma, Mich. Prior to joining Redman Industries, Marti had been associated with Control Data Corp., a computer firm located in Omaha, Neb.

He attends St. Andrew's Episcopal Church and is a member of the Washington Country Club, the Washington C.H. Lions Club, the Paul H. Hughey Post 25, American Legion, the Washington C.H. Elks lodge and the Veterans of Foreign Wars organization. He and his wife, Rachel, have five children.

Rains shift to mid-U.S.

Heavy thundershowers over western Texas and parts of New Mexico diminished today, ending the threat of flash flooding in several areas.

Persistent rains shifted into portions of Oklahoma, Kansas, Utah and Idaho, while scattered showers drifted into Missouri, southern Illinois, southern Indiana and Kentucky.

Skies were generally clear over the central and eastern Gulf Coast states. Fair skies extended from the northern Plains to the Northeast. Patches of dense fog set in over the northern portion of the Ohio Valley.

By CATHY WHITE
4-H Assistant

Most of you have already begun to think about Christmas at this time of the year. Perhaps someone in your family has asked for a bicycle. If so, perhaps the following will be helpful to you.

There are three basic types of bicycles which are the standard, the high riser, and the speed bicycle.

The standard bicycle has a heavy frame and wide tires. These bicycles have the standard handle bars also and come in various sizes such as 20 inches, 24 inches, and 26 inches and so on. The brakes on these bicycles are operated by the pedals.

The high riser bicycle is a variation of the standard bicycle. It usually comes in the 20 inch size with the long and tall handle bars, and the long banana seat. These bicycles come in standard and speed types. The standard ones having no manual gears and having brakes operated by the pedals. The speed ones have manual gears and hand brakes. The gears may be set up on the middle bar like a gear shift for a car and there is usually only three gears.

COLLAPSIBLE bicycles are usually made on the order of high riser either being standard or speed. The only difference being that bicycle either folds or breaks apart into two pieces for easy storage - in a car or camper.

The speed bicycle is the most popular style at this time. These bicycles are at least 26 inches and some are larger. These bicycles are light weight with either standard or curled handle bars. The number of manual gears range from three, five, or ten and are called three, five or 10-speed bicycles. All have hand operated brakes. These bicycles are ideal for long rides and racing.

When buying a bicycle for someone in your family be sure to consider the persons needs and capabilities along with his wants. For instance you may have a small child who wants a ten-speed, but who may not be able to handle such a big bike. A speed high riser may be a better choice for him until he is a little older.

Next week beggar's night will be coming. So drivers be on the alert for excited small children who may unthinkingly dart in front of you. So parents put something bright colored and reflective on your children that drivers may easily see. It may be a good idea to go with your children and before letting your children eat any of their candy or fruit please check it very carefully. Some people have sick senses of humor, so protect your children this Halloween.

Circleville rated very quick

BY LARRY WATTS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

At the beginning of the season, Lion coach Maurice Pfeifer predicted Circleville and Miami Trace to be the two strongest teams in the league. After watching the films of the Circleville-Miami Trace game, Pfeifer has now taken his prediction one step further and stated that the Tigers and Panthers are the two toughest teams on Washington's schedule this season.

Circleville, which is 5-2 for the season and 3-1 in the South Central Ohio League, will be visiting the Lions this Friday. With their one loss in league play, the Tigers face possible elimination from the title picture. Washington stands at 6-1 for the year and 3-0 in the SCOL.

"I thought the game between Circleville and Miami Trace was the championship match for the season," Pfeifer pointed out. "Although Circleville won the game, it appeared as though the Panthers out-played them."

"The Tigers run basic plays, execute well and possess outstanding team quickness," Pfeifer added. "They got off to a slow start but have continued to mature each week. Their loss to Greenfield still puzzles me."

Pfeifer said that the left side of the offensive line has made Circleville's attack devastating. The Washington coach was referring to split end Doug Palm, All-SCOL tackle Scott Bowman, guard Brian Price and center Tom Strawser.

Tailback Biff Bumgarner has turned the offensive production around in the past few games. Bumgarner, who is 5-foot 10 and weighs 180 pounds, has carried the ball 126 times for 746 yards and an average of nearly six yards per carry. In the last three games, the Tiger tailback has gained 236, 140 and 157 yards.

"Keying Bumgarner's success has been the blocking of fullback Pat McNaughton, who I also consider a very good runner," remarked Pfeifer. "McNaughton has gathered 410 yards in 75 carries."

Circleville also possess the game-breaker in wingback Rick Sampsill. Against Wilmington, Sampsill ran step for step with Jackie Watson, who is considered by many to be the fastest runner in the league. In the Unioto game, Sampsill only carried the ball twice, but he picked up 73 yards and a touchdown each time. He has now collected 246 yards in just 23 carries, which is over a 10-yard average per carry.

"Their offensive unit is the best we will face to date," Pfeifer stated. "The big secret of the game rests in the quickness of their offense against the quickness of our defense. Their attack is well-balanced and I think coach Larry Cook uses his players to the best of their ability."

With last week's astonishing performance in holding Bishop Wehrle to a total of minus 62 yards for the game, the Lions' defense should be ready for the Tigers. Washington's defense will be yielding an average of nearly 11 pounds per player to the offense of Circleville.

"Our defense was so impressive because the Wolverines' offense was ineffective," replied Pfeifer. "Wehrle's offense was only able to penetrate to our 41-yard line during the course of the contest. Because they turned the ball over deep in their own territory, we were only able to accumulate 217 total yards on offense. We had the ball 10 times and scored on six occasions."

Washington's offensive unit will also be at a weight disadvantage. The Lions will be giving up an average of over six pounds per player to the Tigers' defense.

"We plan to run the same type of offense against Circleville," Pfeifer pointed out. "The Tigers' defense looks very sound and they have some good athletes on the unit."

"Offensively, we will have to run the football, which is something we have yet to do this year," Pfeifer noted. "Their type of attack will try to grind it out and run over us because of our lack of size. Our offense will just have to keep control of the football in order to keep them from doing this to us."

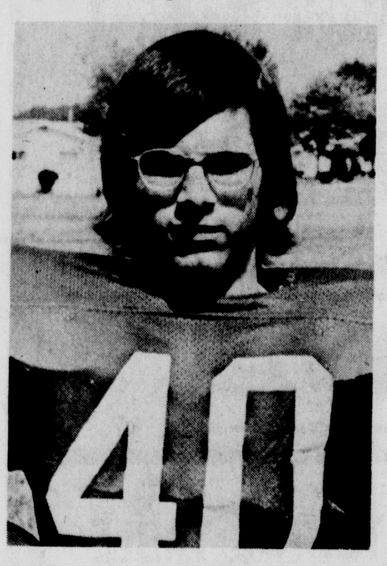

Both tailback Leroy Wilson and tight end David Thompson will be back in the lineup for the Lions. Wilson, who leads the Lions in rushing with 303 yards, suffered a knee injury against Wilmington. Thompson severely bruised his thigh in the same game.

Only an offensive back and defenisve lineman were selected as the players of the week. The entire offensive line played exceptional and it was impossible to select just one player. The defensive line did all of the tackling against Wehrle, so there was not a selection for defensive back of the week.

Randy Gardner was chosen as the offensive back of the week. In filling in for Wilson, Gardner scored two touchdowns and picked up 70 yards in nine carries.

Defensive lineman of the week was defensive end Tim O'Flynn. O'Flynn is 6-foot-1 and weighs 188 pounds.

"This is an emotionally-packed game for us," reported Pfeifer. "Our games have usually been defensive battles. This year the Tigers bring with them nine returning starters on offense and seven returnees on defense."

Lions 11th, Panthers 18th

Five new computer leaders

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — New Philadelphia has scrambled back into a Class AAA regional lead this week in the Ohio High School Athletic Association computerized football ratings.

New Philadelphia, with seven successive victories, earned 75.16 points to replace Canton McKinley, also 7-0-0, as the Region 3 pacesetter.

Despite a victory over Dayton Roth, McKinley fell to fifth place in its region.

The ratings are based solely on victories and losses and a team's schedule strength. The OHSAA uses them to determine its semifinalists for the postseason playoffs.

Fayette County teams, Miami Trace and Washington Court House, were the only members of the South Central Ohio League to advance in this week's computer polls. The Panthers moved from 23rd to 18th in Region 4 of Class AAA. The Lions have climbed into 11th place in Region 8 of Class AA. Court House was 13th last week.

The remaining members of the SCOL dropped in their respective regions. Wilmington fell from 47th to 52 in Region 4. In Region 8, Greenfield dropped from 10th to 12th, Circleville fell from 12th to 14th and Hillsboro went from 40th to 42nd. Class A Unioto dropped from 18th to 20th in Region 12.

Tournament pairings announced by NCAA

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association has announced firstround pairings for its Division I basketball championship and may select 13 at-large teams to complete a 32-team bracket.

If 13 at-large clubs are selected instead of nine as in the past, there will be 16 firstround games, Tom Scott, chairman of the NCAA Tournament Committee, said Wednesday in announcing the pairings.

Whether 13 at-large teams are picked will depend on the quality of the available clubs.

Automatically qualifying for the tournament will be 15 conference champions from the East Coast, Atlantic Coast, Southern, Ivy Group, MidAmerican, Southeastern, Big Ten, Ohio Valley, Southwest, Missouri Valley, Big Eight, Western Athletic, West Coast Athletic, Pacific-8 and Big Sky.

The other four teams will be champions from the four Eastern College Athletic Conference regional tournaments. They also qualify automatically and are bracketed as at-large entrants.

First-round games will be played March 15, regional games March 20 and 22 and the semifinal and final games on March 29 and 31 at San Diego, Calif.

The first-round pairings:

At the Palestra in Philadelphia — The East Coast and Ivy Group champions against at-large teams with Pennsylvania as host. At Charlotte, N.C. — Atlantic Coast and Southern Conference champions against at-large selections with Davidson College as host. The four winners will advance to the East Regional at the Civic Center in Providence, R.I.

At Alabama — Mid-American and Southeastern Conference champions against at-large teams. At Kentucky — Big Ten and Ohio Valley Conference champions against at-large teams. Winners will play in the Mideast Regional at the University of Dayton.

At Texas Tech — Southwest Conference champion and three at-large teams. At Oral Roberts University, Tulsa, Okla. — Missouri Valley and Big Eight Conference champions against at-large teams. Winners will play in the Midwest Regional at New Mexico State.

At Arizona State University — Western Athletic and West Coast Athletic Conferences against at-large selections. At Washington State — Pacific-8 and Big Sky Conference champions against at-large teams. Winners will meet in the West Regional at Memorial Coliseum at Portland, Ore.

Tourney rescheduled

Due to the bad weather last Sunday, the scramble tournament had to be cancelled at the Washington Country Club. The tournament has been rescheduled for this Sunday and anyone interested in playing must sign up by noon, Sunday.

Hawaiians blast Chicago, 60-17

Randy Johnson threw for four touchdowns Wednesday night to lead the Hawaiians to a 60-17 victory in Chicago against the hapless Fire.

"I like playing wide receiver and catching the ball," said Isenbarger after the game. "The passes were right on target."

In the other WFL games Wednesday night, Florida beat Charlotte 15-11, Shreveport blanked Birmingham 31-0 and Philadelphia topped Southern California 45-7. Tonight, it's Memphis at Portland in the the league's nationally televised contest.

A five year veteran who began the season with the National Football League's San Francisco 49ers, Isenbarger caught 10 passes for 135 yards — scoring on aerial plays of 28, 8 and 7 yards.

Johnson, a quarterback jumper from the NFL's New York Giants, completed 22 of 29 passes for 304 yards against Chicago before leaving the runaway contest midway in the third quarter.

Coach Mike Giddings of the Hawaiians got revenge for an earlier 53-29 loss to Chicago by handing the Fire its eighth straight defeat.

Leading 46-10, the Hawaiians made an onsides kick, recovered the ball and scored another touchdown just five plays later.

It was all downhill for the 20,203 Chicago spectators after a spectacular 52-yard field goal by Allan Watson gave the Fire a brief 10-8 edge against the Hawaiians in the opening period.

The Hawaiians and Fire are both 7-10 with three games remaining.

Blazers 15, Hornets 11

With Florida's Tommy Reamon rushing 35 times for a total of 189 yards, the Blazers triumphed on a pair of secondhalf scoring passes from Bob Davis to Greg Latta — 19 yards — and Jim Strong — eight yards.

The Blazers, 12-5, boosted their WFL Eastern Division lead over the runnerup Hornets, 10-7, before 23,613 spectators in Charlotte.

Steamer 31, Americans 0

Shreveport, 6-10-1, upset Birmingham, 12-5, by gaining a total of 529 yards — 326 rushing and 203 passing — and keeping the ball for 20 minutes in the first half and another 20 in the second half.

Shreveport's Jim Nance, who scored on an eight-yard plunge for the first touchdown, rushed for 126 yards to join J.J. Jennings of Memphis and Reamon of Florida in the WFL's 1,000-yard Club.

Bell 45, Sun 7

Quarterback King Corcoran fired three touchdown passes and scored on a one-yard dive to give Philadelphia, 7-10, an upset against Southern California, 12-5, already the WFL's Western Division champion.

Corcoran, who hit on 13 of 26 passes for 174 yards, threw scoring tosses of 32 yards to Don Shanklin, 25 yards to Ron Holliday and 10 yards to Claude Watts.

Philadelphia's John Land became the fourth WFL running back to gain more than 1,000 yards. He rushed for 84 yards in 18 carries for a total of 1,001 this season.

Redskins to beat Cards

By BEN THOMAS
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Okay, class. It's time for a history lesson.

Ages ago, even before the time of Pete Rozelle and the National Football League, somebody dreamed up the saying "history repeats itself."

So let's take a look a history and see if you can figure out the outcome of Sunday's game in the NFL between the St. Louis Cardinals, the only unbeaten team after six weeks of play, and the Washington Redskins.

The Cardinals upset the favored Redskins 17-10 five weeks ago, but since George Allen became Washington's coach in 1971, the Redskins have never lost both regular season games to another team in the National Conference East.

So you can see that history will repeat itself regardless of the outcome. The catch is to figure out the specific part of history that's going to be repeated.

Now that the lesson is over, let's pause to report that the old Pro Pigskin Picker has finally gotten above 70 per cent for the season because of a 10-3 showing last week. That makes it 54-23-1 over-all for .701.

And here's the homework assignment:

WASHINGTON (4-2) at ST. LOUIS (6-0): Speaking of teaching and sayings, you know what experience is best at. So, with that in mind, let's figure that the experience that Sonny Jurgensen, Billy Kilmer and Washington's Over-The-Hill Gang have, will pay off ... REDSKINS 23, CARDINALS 20.

NEW ENGLAND (5-1) at MINNESOTA (5-1): The Vikings have had their letdown for the first half of the season. . . VIKINGS 24, PATRIOTS 17.

CHICAGO (3-3) at BUFFALO (5-i): The Bills can take over first place in the American Conference East with a victory over the Bears and some help from the Vikings ... BILLS 20, BEARS 13.

OAKLAND (5-1) at SAN FRANCISCO (2-4): The Raiders have won five straight, the 49ers have lost five straight. After Sunday, it should be six and six ... RAIDERS 34, 49ERS 13.

LOS ANGELES (4-2) at NEW YORK JETS (1-5): The last time James Harris, the new LA quarterback, visited Shea Stadium was his first start in the NFL. That was as a rookie in 1969 for the then-hapless Buffalo Bills. The score was 33-19, which could be the score this time, too ... RAMS 33, JETS 19.

BALTIMORE (1-5) at MIAMI (4-2): Wonder why Miami is favored by 15 points? Anyway ... DOLPHINS 28, COLTS 13.

PHILADELPHIA (4-2) at NEW ORLEANS (2-4): If the Saints could just play Atlanta every time they might be unbeaten this year, but the Eagle is a bigger bird than the Falcon ... EAGLES 24, SAINTS 17.

HOUSTON (1-5) at CINCINNATI (4-2): Somebody recently described the Oilers as an accident about to happen. But the Bengals will win by design, not accident ... BENGALS 26, OILERS 13.

DENVER (3-2-1) at CLEVELAND (1-5): The Bronco's Floyd Little is starting to hit his stride, so Denver now has a cavalry attack plus the artillery from Charley Johnson and Steve Ramsey ... BRONCOS 24, BROWNS 13.

GREEN BAY (3-3) at DETROIT (2-4): Now that the Lions have found out how to roar, winning could get contagious at Detroit ... LIONS 24, PACKERS 13.

DALLAS (2-4) vs. NEW YORK GIANTS (1-5) at New Haven, Conn.: This could be the place to pick an upset, if the Giants hadn't done it when the two clubs met earlier ... COWBOYS 24, GIANTS 16.

KANSAS CITY (2-4) at SAN DIEGO (1-5): Not too long ago the Chiefs would have been a prohibitive favorite. Now it's just three points. Guess the oddsmakers haven't given up on Jan Stenerud's toe, but we have ... CHARGERS 17, CHIEFS 15.

ATLANTA (2-4) at PITTSBURGH (4-1-1): Sherman set Atlanta aflame more than 100 years ago. This time — in the Monday night game — Pittsburgh will be fired up ... STEELERS 35, FALCONS 22.

Top players selected by Sporting News

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Base-stealing king Lou Brock and slugger Jeff Burroughs have been named the 1974 major league players of the year in a poll conducted by the Sporting News.

The national publication has also selected Mike Marshall and Catfish Hunter as 1974's top major league pitchers.

The selections, the result of a poll among 394 major league players, were announced Wednesday by the newspaper.

The 35-year-old Brock, who stole a record 118 bases for the St. Louis Cardinals during 1974, also hit .306 and scored 105 runs in winning National League Player of the Year honors.

Burroughs, 23, led the American League with 118 runs batted in and batted .301 for the Texas Rangers to take top player laurels in the AL.

Brock and Burroughs are both outfielders.

Marshall, a right-handed reliever who came to the Los Angeles Dodgers last winter from the Montreal Expos, appeared in a record 106 games, winning 15 and saving 21. The 31-year-old fireman is the first relief specialist ever named the NL's top pitcher by the Sporting News.

Hunter, already a 10-year veteran at 28, won 25 games for the World Champion Oakland Athletics in 1974. It was the fourth straight 20-game season for the right-hander, who also turned in a 2.49 earned run average in winning American League Pitcher of the Year honors.

Phoenix topples Detroit

AP Sports Writer

Protest? Why? Ray Scott was just as happy he didn't have to watch the fourth quarter.

Coach Scott's torpid Detroit Pistons, usually explosive on offense with Dave Bing and Bob Lanier, went for more than four minutes in the second quarter without scoring, and Phoenix wound up winning the National Basketball Association contest 100-90.

Again in the third period, the Pistons suffered through three minutes without a point, allowing Phoenix to build up a 78-62 lead going into the final set.

That apparently was enough for Scott.

Toward the end of the third quarter, he drew his second technical for deploying the Pistons in a zone defense and was ejected.

"I don't know why we were picked out for this so early in the season. I see modified zones all the time," Scott said.

"But the way the game was played, I didn't protest."

In other NBA games, Cleveland edged Boston 108-107, Washington beat Houston 99-95, Seattle dropped Portland 107-97, and Kansas City-Omaha got by Chicago 99-98.

Charlie Scott got 23 points for the Suns and Curtis Perry added 18 before fouling out with about six minutes to play. Lanier had 24 points for Detroit and Bing had 17.

Austin Carr was responsible to a great extent for the Cleveland's squeaker over defending NBA champion Celtics, scoring 16 points in an 18-point Cleveland surge in the second half after Boston had drawn to within a point at 66-65.

Undefeated Washington got a boost from Phil Chenier in his first start of the season as he scored 27 points. He has had back trouble.

Jimmy Jones, who signed Wednesday with the Capitals after leaving the Salt Lake Stars of the American Basketball Association, played two minutes and said, "I've been in this situation before, being traded about a month after training camp, and it took about a month to fit into the system."

Guard Fred Brown scored 11 of his 16 points in the final three minutes to give the Sonics their victory. Sonics' rookie center Tom Burleson sparked a second-quarter rally when he stole the ball at Portland's end of the court and took it alone for a stuff shot, then scored two more quick buckets to tighten the score at 39-32.

Archie Clark had 19 points for the Sonics. Portland's Geoff Petrie had 24, and Bill Walton scored 15 with 17 rebounds.

Nate Williams' 18-foot jumper with six seconds left capped a Kings' rally that saw them come back from a 98-89 deficit. Nate Archibald led the Kings with 24 points, and Chet Walker had 24 for the Bulls.

Defense lawyers hammer at Dean

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Mitchell's defense lawyer in the Watergate cover-up trial focused today on differences between John Dean's trial testimony and what Dean told the Senate Watergate committee 16 months ago.

William G. Hundley reminded Dean that he had testified at the trial about a long telephone conversation he had with Mitchell on June 22, 1972, in which he reported on the progress of the FBI investigation of the Watergate break-in.

In his second day of cross-examining Dean, Hundley noted that Dean never mentioned the Mitchell conversation in his Watergate committee testimony. Mitchell is a former attorney general and is one of five defendants in the trial.

Hundley also pointed out that Dean never mentioned the conversation to a federal grand jury.

Asked by Hundley to explain, Dean said, "The first time I was asked about that was in this courtroom."

Hundley then turned to another conversation Dean had testified he had with Mitchell.

At the trial, Dean said he talked to Mitchell on the telephone on June 28, 1972.

Hundley reminded Dean that he had told the Watergate committee his conversation with Mitchell on the 28th was at a meeting and not on the telephone.

Mitchell later had told the committee he was out of town that day.

Dean said he subsequently recalled that he attended a meeting in Mitchell's office on June 28 but that Mitchell wasn't there and that he had called him later when the former attorney general returned to Washington.

In his cross-examination of Dean on Wednesday, Hundley sought to portray the former White House counsel as ready to sacrifice anyone to save his own skin when the Watergate cover-up began unraveling.

"John Mitchell never asked you to bite the bullet for him," Hundley said to Dean during cross-examination on Wednesday.

Hundley tried to get Dean to admit that he had tried to get Mitchell to step forward to take responsibility for the Watergate break-in.

"You didn't have any information that Mr. Mitchell was responsible for the bugging," Hundley told the former White House counsel. "Yet you joined in a plan to have him step forward because that would save you."

Hundley was the second defense lawyer to cross-examine Dean, the leadoff government witness in the trial of five former Nixon administration and campaign aides accused of conspiring to block the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

John J. Wilson, lawyer for H.R. Haldeman, former White House staff chief, led off the cross-examination and had Dean relate how he took $4,850 for his honeymoon from a $350,000 cash fund kept by Haldeman in the White House.

"Didn't it lay on your conscience at all that you spent money that didn't belong to you?" Wilson asked.

"I was prepared to account for it at any time I was asked to," replied Dean.

"Now listen, Mr. Wilson, you know me, you've known me for years," the judge replied, pointing his finger at the short, balding lawyer. "I'm as much interested in getting the truth out as you are."

At issue was whether tapes of conversations about which Dean's memory was unclear would be played for the jury.

The White House conversations referred to took place on Feb. 27, 28 and March 13, 1973.

The prosecutors agreed to play the tapes. But after a bench conference later in the day, it was decided that playing them would be put off for some time, if not indefinitely.

Part of the procedure for introducing tapes as evidence at the trial is that a participant in the conversation or someone accepted as authoritative can identify the voices and relate the substance of the discussion. Dean has been used for that so far.

Symposiarch officers set

Candidates for president, vice president and secretary-treasurer were announced by Harris Willis, chairman of the nominating at the Symposiarch chapter meeting Wednesday night.

It has long been the chapter policy to advance the vice president to the vice presidency; so Dr. Charles M. Pfersick is unopposed for the top office next year. The other candidates are Dr. Donald E. Mossbarger and Richard Arnott for vice president and Richard Patton and Dr. Warren Craig for secretary-treasurer. The election will be held at the November meeting.

Following dinner at the Country Club, Dr. J.H. Persinger spoke on advances being made in medical science, particularly in the field of diabetes. He prefaced his more serious talk with several humorous stories.

Firemen respond to two blazes

The Washington C.H. Fire Department responded to two fires Wednesday, one of which was at the home of Washington C.H. Fireman, Jay Smith.

Fireman Smith's residence at 429 Broadway, incurred an estimated $3,000 damage when fire broke out at 10:55 a.m. Wednesday. The fire department extinguished the blaze with water and reported heavy smoke damage throughout the house.

Fireman Smith's wife, Sandy, was reportedly home at the time, but was uninjured.

At 3:53 p.m. Wednesday, firemen were summoned to extinguished a pile of burning leaves in the 600 block of Washington Avenue, which children had allegedly set on fire.

There was no damage.
